New Deal and Dewey Lead at Illinois Polls

Stelle Badly Beaten In Race for Governor Nomination
GREEN WINNER

New Yorker Has Lead Over Vandenberg in Nebraska Primary

Chicago — (AP) — Almost a million Republican voters nominated Dwight H. Green for governor of Illinois yesterday and gave the senatorial nomination to C. Wayland Brooks.

Nominations for governor and senator went to Harry B. Hershey and James M. Slattery by smashing majorities while returns from the Illinois primary left only one major contest in doubt today.

Auditor Edward J. Barrett, "insurgent" candidate for third-term re-nomination, was trailing John C. Martin, the regular organization candidate by less than 16,000 votes with well over half of the state's precincts reported.

Democrats endorsed the third-term movement in the presidential preference primary by piling up a top-heavy vote for President Roosevelt in his contest with Vice President Garner.

Dewey Unopposed
At the same time Thomas E. Dewey of New York added impetus to his bid for the Republican presidential nomination by capturing a big proportion of his party's votes although unopposed in the preferential balloting.

The president's margin over Garner was slightly more than 6 to 1 on the basis of returns from 6,604 of the state's 8,336 precincts. The vote: Roosevelt 929,773; Garner 149,758.

Dewey polled 651,611 votes in 6,155 precincts, but a comparison with the vote cast in the same number of districts in the gubernatorial contest showed he was not receiving all of the votes. His share approached 50 per cent, however.

Projections of the vote at this point in the tabulation indicated the combined Democratic totals would reach 1,960,000 and that Dewey's vote would climb to 980,000.

A projection of the count for governor in 5,673 of the state's 8,336 precincts indicated the Republican vote might pass the million mark, but that it would fall short of the 1,077,295 votes cast in the Republican primary of 1936.

Unofficial returns from the 5,673 precincts gave Green 369,812 and Richard J. Lyons 264,353.

'Rebels' Snared Under
In 5,446 precincts, Brooks was leading Congressman Ralph E. Church by a vote of 342,637 to 236,411.

Hershey and Senator Slattery, sweeping in on the combined strength of Governor Horner's state Democratic organization and the Kelly-Nach Chicago machine, snared under their wings on the "rebel" state headed by Lieutenant Governor John Stelle.

Hershey led Stelle by more than 266,000 votes with 5,830 out of 8,336 precincts in the vote stood: Hershey 582,153; Stelle 315,930.

Senator Slattery was nominated by an indicated plurality of about 250,000 over Benjamin S. Adamowski, young Chicago legislator, on the basis of the still incomplete returns.

Lincoln, Neb. — (AP) — Nebraska's primary voters had it increasingly plain today they preferred Thomas E. Dewey for the Republican presidential nomination over Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Dewey had 79,748 unofficial votes to Vandenberg's 53,367 as 1,570 of the state's 2,033 precincts were tabulated.

Senator Edward R. Burke's campaign manager conceded the nomination of Governor R. L. Cochrane in the Democratic senatorial race when 1,543 precincts gave Cochrane 65,545 to Burke's 46,452.

Cochrane based his campaign on charges that Burke had "repudiated" 1934 New Deal pledges by his senate record. The Omaha frequently has been an administration foe.

Running alone on the democratic presidential preference ballot, President Roosevelt piled up 88,607 ballots in 1,570 precincts.

Butler Leading
Both preference results are traditionally binding on each party's 14 convention delegates.

Hugh Butler, Omaha grain man, jumped ahead of former Governor Arthur Weaver in the Republican senatorial contest, polling 48,893 in 1,543 precincts compared with Weaver's 41,542.

Torrey Carpenter, who proposed higher age pensions by giving the state a wholesale liquor monopoly, maintained a slim but steady lead over former Governor Keith Neville in the Democratic gubernatorial contest. Carpenter had 55,386 in 1,581 precincts, Neville 52,905.

Dwight Griswold of Gordon was nominated for the fourth time on the Republican ballot for governor. He has never won a general election.

Washington — (AP) — Major General David Carey Shanks, 79, retired, died in Walter Reed hospital today after an illness of three weeks.

State Workers Want Governor To Oust Frey

Group's Secretary Says He Has Made Recommendation to Heil

ASSAILS ACTIONS
Charges 'Methods and Practices Led to Breakdown in Morale'

Madison — (AP) — Roy E. Kubista, executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Employees association, announced today he had recommended to Governor Heil on behalf of his organization the removal of August Frey as director of the state department of research.

Kubista's action was disclosed almost simultaneously with release of a statement by Frey in which he explained proposals he made recently for reorganization of the highway commission offices were based solely on "the economy program of reorganization without personalities or politics."

Kubista declared in a letter to the governor that state employees, although disappointed when William Ashie of Kaukauna declined to become head of research activities, were glad to cooperate with the new department and its original director, Mr. Frey. He added:

"During the past months, however, the activities of Mr. Frey have been subject to considerable criticism not only on the part of those being investigated, but by the public at large. Many of his methods and practices have led to a breakdown in the morale of civil service employees and have delayed the functioning of state departments."

Blow to Efficiency
"It is the feeling of the Wisconsin State Employees association that Mr. Frey has done more to hinder efficiency in state service than to further it. As the employer of a large number of people in your plant you are aware that the morale and efficiency of employees can easily be broken down by constant threats, abuse and the ever present possibility of losing one's job regardless of past performance or present efficiency and with practically no notice. This is the condition that prevails in the state service today."

Frey contended his recommendations on highway commission reorganization, subsequently discarded by the governor, were based on a complete impartial survey. He added:

"The facts and figures presented in my recommendations can be verified by a number of competent and disinterested citizens of the state of Wisconsin."

He said his honest belief that there will be a day of reckoning when the citizens of the state come to the realization that millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money is being squandered for useless activities by certain departments dominated by political influence.

Frey said he referred specifically to the highway department, but also had in mind other state departments. Governor Heil, who was in Milwaukee, was unavailable for comment.

Police at Manitowoc
Order Ban on Bingo

Manitowoc — (AP) — Bingo was under police ban in Manitowoc today.

Chief of Police J. J. Kupke announced that his department had notified all organizations that hereafter bingo games would be considered violations of gambling laws.

A movement to halt the games here was launched a year ago but was dropped to await the outcome of cases in Milwaukee. Kupke said that since state courts have upheld a ban on bingo, "we intend to enforce the ban here until such time as the United States Supreme Court may declare that bingo is legal."

European War Bulletins
New York — (AP) — A London broadcast, picked up by NBC today, quoted an admiralty announcement that the British navy has sunk five of the eight cruisers which Germany had at the start of the war.

Berlin — (AP) — German air squadrons are engaging in battles with the British navy "at several points" in the northern part of the North sea, DNB, the official German news agency, reported today.

The agency said German scouting planes first encountered the British units, then warned fighting plane squadrons which went immediately to the attack.

London — (AP) — Norway's two biggest warships, the Norge and Eidsvold, each 4,168 tons, were reported by Reuters news agency today to have been torpedoed and sunk by German vessels at Narvik, Norway.

Only 20 of the crews of 560 men were saved, the British agency said, attributing its report to the Swedish newspaper social Demokraten.

Reykjavik, Iceland — (AP) — The Icelandic parliament, oldest in the world, today took full control of this northern nation's foreign affairs in view of the German occupation of Denmark, to which Iceland is linked by the Danish crown.

A resolution adopted unanimously said that the situation created by the German invasion of Denmark made it impossible for King Christian X. monarch of both Iceland and Denmark, to exercise his royal powers.

"The Icelandic parliament declares that the ministry of Iceland until further notice is entrusted with the conduct of said powers," the resolution declared.

London — (AP) — The air ministry announced tonight that British fighter planes shot down two German Heinkel bombers off the northeast coast this evening.

London — (AP) — Norwegian and Swedish sources tonight asserted that British forces had recaptured the western Norwegian ports of Bergen and Trondheim, which were occupied by the Germans yesterday, but official British quarters refused to confirm the report.

New York — (AP) — A British Broadcasting company broadcast today said the Swedish government had moved army reservists to northern and southern provinces, and ordered all reserves mobilized. The announcement said a state of partial air defense was in operation. Air raid precaution units have been strengthened.

Berlin — (AP) — A DNB, German official news agency, reported from Copenhagen today that King Christian of Denmark today received the British, French and Polish ministers in a farewell audience.

Great Sea Battle Reported Near Swedish Coast After British and Nazi Warships Clash Off Norway

Berlin Admits Losing 2 Cruisers, Says British Lost 3 Ships

NORWAY FIGHTING
Reich Sources Expect Complete Agreement With King Haakon

Berlin — (AP) — German naval units defending the northern Norwegian port of Narvik against a British attack destroyed three British destroyers and badly damaged a fourth early today, the German high command stated tonight.

(Britain acknowledged the loss of only two destroyers in the Narvik raid, stating that a third was damaged heavily and a fourth less seriously.)

Earlier Germany had acknowledged the loss of two cruisers, the 10,000-ton Bluecher and the 6,000-ton Karlsruhe, Norwegian coastal fire yesterday.

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF
Berlin — (AP) — Germany announced today that she had lost two cruisers under the fire of Norwegian coastal batteries in landing troops in Norway yesterday, but stated that despite this resistance a complete and "mutually satisfactory" agreement with Norway would be reached within a few hours.

A high command communique showed that the Norwegians fought bitterly against the Germans, but claimed despite this opposition the occupation of Narvik, Drontheim, Bergen, Stavanger, Egersund, Kristiansand, Arendal and Oslo. These cities, "among others, are firmly in German hands," said the communique.

(Reports reaching Stockholm said a battle was in progress this morning between German and Norwegian troops at Elverum, 75 miles north of Oslo, where the Norwegian royal family and government took been occupied by 4.30 p. m. (9.30 a. m. C.S.T.)

Volunteers joined the regular Norwegian troops to defend the new capital from the invaders. The royal family and the government of Premier Johan Nygaardsvold had fled to Elverum from Hamar, whither it had gone yesterday just ahead of the German occupation of Oslo.

German troops were supported in their action against Elverum by warplanes, travellers reaching here related.

Russia Neutral
Reports from Moscow to the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said that Russia was remaining neutral regarding current events in Scandinavia, but that she regarded England as "responsible for the fate of Denmark and Norway."

Political circles in Moscow were said to regard Russia and Finland both as being out of the field of action of the great powers, but nevertheless Russia was said to have concentrated troops in the north and have her Arctic navy ready for any eventuality.

Ferry traffic between Denmark and Sweden, which was cut off yesterday with the German occupation of Denmark, was expected to be opened by tomorrow.

No telephone calls or telegraph transmission still were permitted.

Soldier in 3 Campaigns
Succumbs in Michigan

Ironwood, Mich. — (AP) — Joseph Thomas, 76, who served in the armies of England and the United States through three campaigns, died yesterday of a heart attack.

Born in Cornwall, England, Thomas entered the English army at the age of 16. He served for six years and a half, taking part in the Egyptian campaign of 1882. He was wounded at Tel-el-Kebir.

He came to the United States, raising in Pennsylvania before coming here in 1892 to work as a miner. He enlisted for the Spanish-American war, after which he returned to mining in the World war, when the government opened branches of service for men between 45 and 55, he enlisted again.

Washington — (AP) — President Roosevelt called in advisers on economic and foreign affairs today for a discussion of future relations with Scandinavia, although a final decision on imminent neutrality moves here apparently was hampered by lack of diplomatic information from Norway.

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, and Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, were summoned to the White House for what preliminary discussions, with amplification, as a discussion of loans, included in Jones' agency is the Export-Import bank, which has made a total of $35,000,000 in credits available to Norway, Denmark and Sweden, although very little of the money actually has been used.

Mr. Roosevelt also discussed the foreign situation with Senator Barkley of Kentucky and Representative Rayburn of Texas, senate and house majority leaders. Rayburn reported that "the president said something about issuing a proclamation today."

This, he indicated, would enlarge the combat zone of dangerous waters from which American ships are prohibited.

At present the zone, proclaimed under the neutrality law, prohibits American vessels from going near the British Isles or the northern European coast, except chiefly for a section of the Norwegian and Spanish coasts. Any extension applying to Scandinavia thus would designate all waters as forbidden to American ships.

So far as the state department knew today the full staff of the American legation, with the exception of the foreign situation with Senator Barkley.

NAZI TROOPS EMBARK FOR DENMARK OCCUPATION
German troops which occupied Copenhagen and other parts of Denmark are shown as they embarked from the harbor at Warnemunde, Germany. Traveling by ferry, the troops landed at Gjedser and with an armored train, proceeded northward. This photo was radioed from Berlin to New York.

Norwegian Troops Battle Nazis at Elverum, Refuge Of Norway's Royal Family

Communications are Broken; Danes Fleeing Into Sweden

Stockholm — (AP) — Norwegian troops defending their government and its new capital fought a fierce battle with invading German forces today at the town of Elverum, 75 miles north of Oslo on the Swedish frontier, according to advices reaching here.

About 200 Norwegians were reported killed and wounded, while German losses were not immediately known.

The Germans were reported sending reinforcements to Elverum speedily, but the town still had not

Court Order Keeps Girl From Attending Funeral of Mother

Los Angeles — (AP) — A juvenile court order kept 11-year-old Chloe Davis from attending funeral services today for her mother, two sisters and brother despite a court order for her to be present.

A jury verdict that virtually absolved her of blame in California's most brutal hammer slaying.

The flaxen-haired sixth grade youngster, who told authorities her mother inflicted fatal hammer blows upon the three other children and then committed suicide by slashing her wrists with a razor blade, was ordered kept in custody of relatives until April 17.

On that date a hearing has been set to determine whether she shall become a ward of the juvenile court until she is 21, or whether she is capable of returning to normal life.

A petition to make her a court ward alleges that she committed an assault with a deadly weapon upon her mother and brother. This grew out of her statement that, upon her mother's command, she delivered the finishing blow upon her infant brother with the hammer after he had been mortally wounded by his mother, and then, also at her command, rained blows upon her.

Italy Ready to Help 'Transform the World,' Fascist Writer Says

Rome — (AP) — Roberto Farinacci, member of the fascist grand council, asserted today it would be "absurd" for Italy "not to take part in the transformation of Europe and perhaps of the world."

The former secretary of the fascist party, writing in his Cremona newspaper Regime Fascista, said that Premier Benito Mussolini's speech at Orvieto Sunday in which he announced that Italy was ready to face any emergency had made it plain that Italian non-belligerence "should not and cannot be confused with neutrality."

Farinacci said that in the seven months since the war began Italy's armed forces have been "placed on a war footing."

"Now we can speak loudly and strongly," he concluded, and "tomorrow we will not be absent if history exacts grave decisions."

Soviet Ambassador Renews Trade Talks

London — (AP) — Soviet Russia's Ambassador Ivan M. Maisky raised the subject of re-opening trade discussions with Britain in recent conversations with Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, R. A. Butler, undersecretary for foreign affairs, told the house of commons today.

Butler said "one important aspect" of any discussion was to keep Russian raw materials away from Germany.

Report German Destroyer Sunk and Three 'Hit And Burning'

Stockholm, Sweden — (AP) — A mighty battle at sea, during which British fleet units attacked 10 big German troopships, sinking two and scattering the others, was seen tonight from the Pater-noster reefs, near the Island of Marstrand in the Skagerrak.

The battle began at 6 p. m. (12 noon E. S. T.), with German warships which escorted the troopships attempting to fight off the British men o'war.

Shortly before 9 o'clock it appeared that the fight was over and that the transport fleet had been dispersed.

Thunderous cannonading echoed over the Goteborg northern archipelago throughout the engagement. Swarms of planes participated.

New York — (AP) — A London short-wave broadcast picked up by NBC today said that "the British admiralty has just announced that the British navy at this moment is engaged in the largest battle in the history of British sea warfare since the battle of Jutland in 1916."

The broadcast announcing that latest reports were to the effect that British naval units had just forced the Skagerrak, the North sea entrance to the Baltic sea, said the German naval force engaged in the battle is composed of 10 warships which are believed to be tapped.

The broadcast announced that the Royal Air Force "is rendering splendid assistance to the navy in this battle."

London — (AP) — The British navy was reported tonight to have penetrated into the strategic Skagerrak, the entrance to the Baltic sea, and to have sunk two German troop transports, a report from Goteborg, south of Marstrand, stating that a naval battle had been raging in the region since 6 a. m. (midnight Tuesday, E.S.T.)

Watchers on the Swedish coast saw two large warships of undetermined nationality sinking, it was stated.

Warplanes also were said to have taken part in the battle.

Fishermen manned their boats in preparation for carrying out rescue work.

Legion Convention Check Is Backed By Governor Heil

Underwrite Guarantee So
State Can Bid for 1941 Meeting

Milwaukee—(P)—Governor Julius Heil has personally underwritten the guarantee of $27,050 which the American Legion convention corporation has obtained to help defray expenses of the 1941 national legion convention if it is held in Milwaukee, it was disclosed today.

Although it was first announced yesterday that a group of Milwaukee businessmen had underwritten the amount, legislative chairman Ray Sheehy of the convention corporation later revealed Heil had made the guarantee.

Sheehy said he and other members of the committee had conferred with Heil and that the governor said he was "more than glad to do this."

The state legislature appropriated $50,000 to the convention corporation in 1939 but the money has been withheld pending a court test of objections claiming the appropriation was unconstitutional.

Sheehy said the corporation would be unable to wait for a court ruling if Milwaukee were to make a bid for the national convention when the legion's national executive committee meets at Indianapolis May 2.

Because of Heil's guarantee, Frank L. Greeny, state commander and head of the American Legion convention corporation, will be able to present a certified check for $27,050 at the meeting. Money spent in arranging for the convention would be repaid through convention registration fees.

Sheehy said Governor Heil stated: "I'm proud to have the opportunity to show the boys who fought a war to save democracy that Wisconsin appreciates them and wants them as guests."

"Inviting the convention here not only will show our appreciation, but it will be of great benefit to the city and state."

Millions will be spent in Wisconsin. The advantages of the state as a vacation land will be demonstrated to thousands."

Victor Mackenzie, chairman of the legion's permanent convention committee, will visit Milwaukee April 22 to look over auditorium and housing facilities.

Reich May Acquire Oil Tanker Fleet

Norway Has 262 Ships
Plying Routes to Central America

BY EDWARD CURTIS
Tulsa—(P)—Germany's thrust into Scandinavia has brought her within striking distance of control of the third largest fleet of oil tankers in the world.

Oil, the fuel power behind air and sea attack, is considered by some sources here as one motive for the Nazis' blitzkrieg against Denmark and Norway.

Norway, with North Sea routes to Central America's oil supplies, has 262 tankers in her registry, with a total tonnage of 2,987,000. This is exceeded only by Great Britain and the United States.

It is possible, however, that Scandinavian ships may transfer to Panama registry.

England has been obtaining much of its oil imports from Venezuela, via the Dutch West Indies, and it is a question whether such a source would be open to the Nazis.

At the same time, oil sources, point out that Germany's position with Scandinavian sea bases for oil importation would be much stronger than heretofore.

They said also that serious difficulties are involved in transportation of Rumanian oil to Germany, and that the Russian oil situation is such that exportation of crude from the Soviet to the Nazis is not expected in any appreciable amount.

Mrs. Charlotte Wright

Los Angeles, Calif.—(P)—Mrs. Charlotte Quinn Wright, former wife of David Lloyd Wright, architect of Los Angeles and Chicago, has wed architect Harry Frost of Chicago, it was disclosed here last night.

The ceremony took place last Thursday at Las Vegas, Nev. The bride's former husband is the son of Wisconsin's widely famed architect, Frank Lloyd Wright of Spring Green.

London—(P)—The death of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, noted actress of the stage and screen, at Pau, France, was announced today.

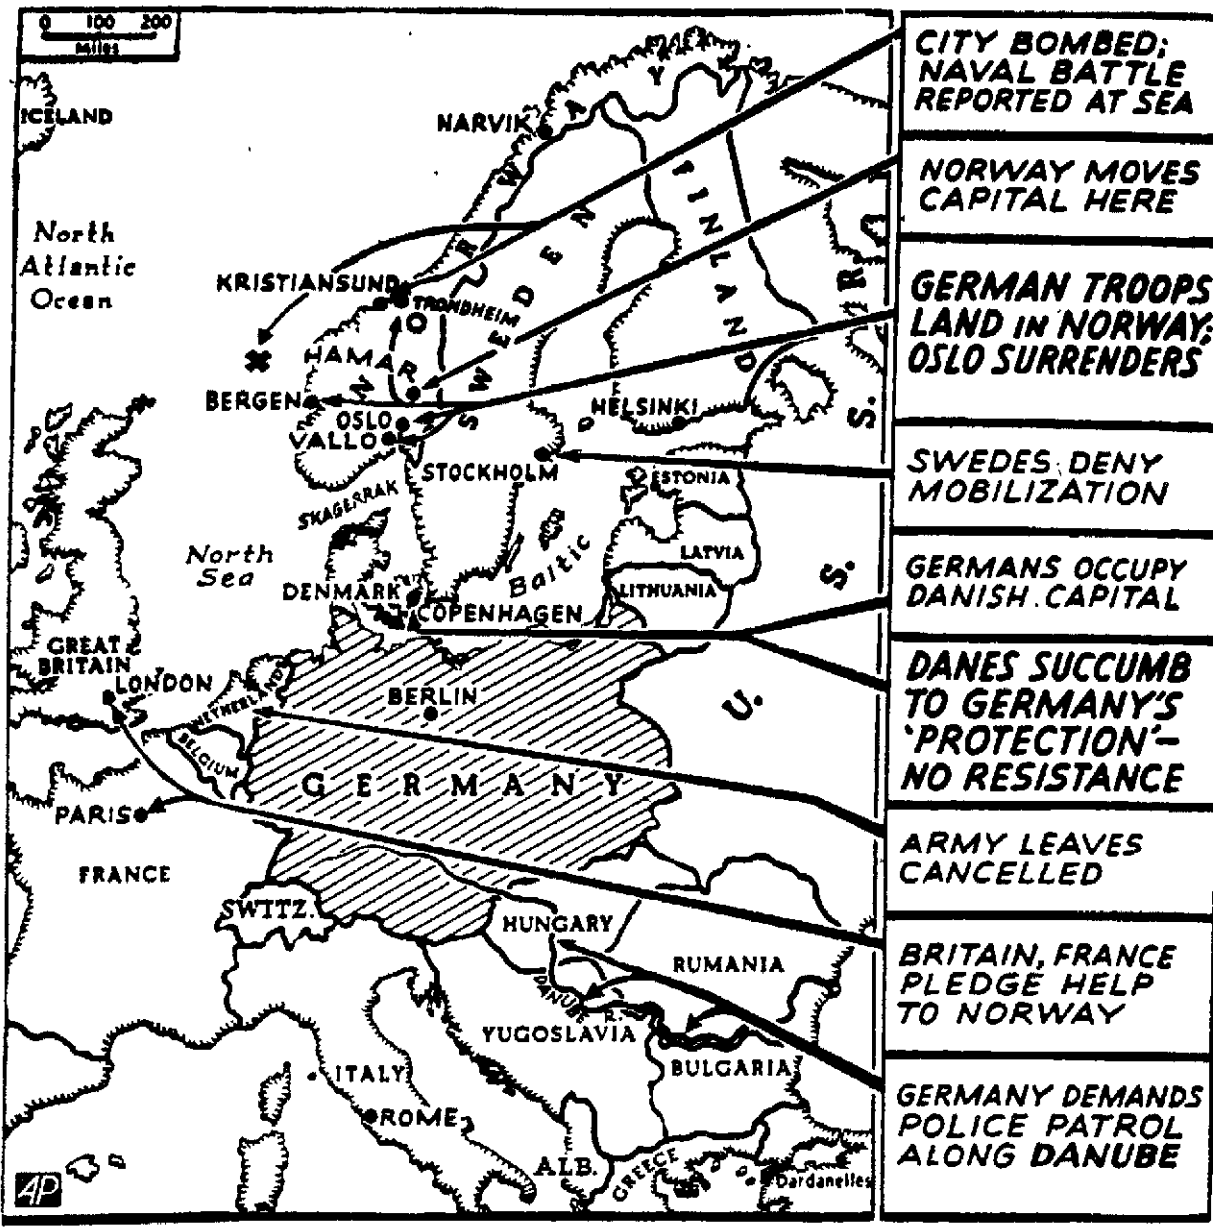

The British-born actress was 75 years old.

Mrs. Campbell, almost as equally famed as a wit as she was as an actress, made her professional stage debut in 1888 launching a career which carried her around the world in some of the theater's greatest roles.

She toured the United States several times and in 1934 went to Hollywood where she made several movies.

GERMANY STRIKES NORTHWARD, MENACES BALKANS

This Associated Press map highlights the latest developments in the European war, with German legions moving northward to enforce an "armed protection" over Denmark and Norway, and hinting at moves to the south, where it was reported that Germany has demanded the right to police the entire length of the Danube.

Nazi Thrust Into Denmark So Swift, Smooth That Normal Life Is Virtually Undisturbed

Leaves Nation Stunned
But Resigned to German Rule

Editor's note:
Associated Press staff men Wes Gallagher and Lynn Heinzelinger were in Copenhagen when German forces marched in yesterday.

The Germans quickly snapped Copenhagen's communications with the outside world.

The following dispatch is the collaborative work of Gallagher and Heinzelinger, their first to be sent from the Danish capital since German "protection" was imposed.

Copenhagen, 7:50 a. m. (By way of Berlin) (Delayed)—With minute Teutonic efficiency Germany today took control of the affairs of the entire kingdom of Denmark after a swift, relentless 2-hour military coup which left the nation stunned but resigned to German rule.

By land, sea and air the reich's green-clad legions swept into the little kingdom, crushing slight opposition in Jutland and at an airport just outside Copenhagen.

A sleepy-eyed German machine-gunner—his head sticking out of a shallow hole in the lawn near the east railroad station—gave many Copenhageners the first news of the German occupation this morning.

Danes who had gone to bed with slumbering news from Oslo and the Skagerrak pouring from their radios awoke today to find German troops installed at strategic points of Copenhagen.

Barricades were set up at the free port where many Germans landed. Machine-guns guarded approaches to those places.

Swift Occupation
On east side streets tired-looking German sentries stood on corners near the railway station, re-routing traffic. One of the soldiers, asked how many Germans had entered Denmark, replied, "two hundred thousand," but he smiled when he said it.

So swift was the smooth Nazi thrust that the everyday life was virtually undisturbed—for Danes, that is. Scores of British and French were trapped when the advancing Germans cut all means of communication and transportation.

Americans flooded into the United States consulate, seeking passports and visas.

A proclamation by King Christian and Premier Stauning declared that reich troops would "take up a connection with the Danish army" and that it is the duty of the Danish population to "refrain from every resistance" to the Nazis.

All the German sentries carried rifles with bayonets, and had three or four long-handled grenades stuck in their belts.

Retains Residence
King Christian's royal flag continued to fly over Amalienborg castle, showing that he still was in residence.

The trim royal guards who usually patrol the castle square had doffed their shakos, however, for trench helmets such as worn by the new arrivals from the reich.

A few blocks away, at the citadel barracks, German troops were installing themselves in the old fortress, but it was impossible to estimate their number.

Many foreigners, hoping to leave the city, hastened to the airport and railroad stations, only to find them thronged with soldiers or closed to the public.

With the exception of interruptions in transportation and communication, however, life went on much as usual.

Thousands of Danes cycled to work as usual, pausing only to glance overhead as Nazi bombers roared over the rooftops to drop pamphlets.

With the exception of interruptions in transportation and communication, however, life went on much as usual.

Thousands of Danes cycled to work as usual, pausing only to glance overhead as Nazi bombers roared over the rooftops to drop pamphlets.

Baptists Will Have Uniform Ordinations

Milwaukee—(P)—A uniform ordination standard for Baptist ministers was adopted yesterday by the board of managers of the Wisconsin Baptist convention, which represents all the 158 Baptist churches in the state.

Previously standards varied in the 13 district associations which go to make up the state convention.

The managers also completed preliminary arrangements for the state convention at Stevens Point, June 11-13.

U. S. to Act Under Neutrality Law

tion of the American minister Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, was still on duty in Oslo. Mrs. Harriman accompanied the Norwegian government yesterday when it left the capital, before the advance of German troops, and set up new headquarters at Hamar, farther inland.

Secretary Hull and Undersecretary Welles virtually had finished work on a series of orders, some of them designed to invoke the neutrality act's "cash and carry" and no-credits restrictions against the two Scandinavian nations.

They discussed the measures with the chief executive immediately on his return last night from Hyde Park N. Y. Mr. Roosevelt who had rushed to the capital by special train, was met at the station by Hull, Welles and Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson.

Government attorneys, meanwhile, poured over the complicated question of whether the full force of the neutrality act should be applied with a proclamation designating the two erstwhile neutrals as belligerents. Technicalities beset the problem.

No "War" in Denmark
In Denmark's case, for instance, there had been actually no war. Germany's occupation was "peaceful." In view of this, does a state of war exist to justify a "belligerent" proclamation under the neutrality act?

The situation in Norway was not so clear. The initial resistance to the Nazi invasion, however, produced a state akin to war.

One thing appeared certain. A sizable portion of Norway and all of Denmark have passed under German control and for administrative purposes constitute a part of Hitler's third reich, at least for the present.

As a consequence, it was considered unlikely that the government would permit further American exports to Denmark or Norway on any but a cash and carry basis or that credits to the two countries would be continued.

Some experts believed that for Denmark the procedure might be similar to that followed at the time of Germany's absorption of Czechoslovakia. Then, although the state department refused to recognize the legality of Germany's acquisition and even denounced it, the government for all practical purposes considered Czechoslovakia an economic part of Germany and treated her products accordingly.

Await Further Word
Commenting with gravity on the European situation, President Roosevelt said enroute to Washington yesterday that the events of Monday and Tuesday undoubtedly would cause a great many more Americans to think about the potentialities of the war. This, he said, would be a good thing.

State department officials awaited further word of the allied intentions and activities, particularly their announced plan to bring military aid to Norway. If this materialized, making Scandinavia an active theater of war, the neutrality act might have to be invoked in full.

The president's decision in the been forced to occupy the country because of the French-British allies' efforts to "make Scandinavia a theater of war."

The pamphlets said, "German military forces therefore have taken possession of the most important military objectives in Denmark and Norway. In this connection negotiations now are going on between the German and Danish governments."

"These negotiations will insure that the Danish kingdom continues, that the Danish army and navy are retained and that the Danish people will have full privileges to continue to enjoy life with peace and security."

Difficult to Analyze Present War Situation Until Smoke of Naval Engagement Clears Away

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
New York—(P)—Just by way of showing the orange light of caution one is impelled to say that until the smoke of the naval engagement off the Norwegian coast lifts to give us details of what is now a mysterious battle we shall do well to sit tight and not rock our own boat with excited speculation.

All we know of a certainty is that allied and German naval and air units are, or have been, in conflict on an angry sea. It would appear that for the first time in history warships have been supported by squadrons of bombing and fighting planes.

If we could say that the entire British grand fleet and the whole German navy were engaged on one colossal conflict, then we should be able to suggest that disaster might lurk in the storm clouds for one side or the other.

Won't End War
It is improbable, however, that forces of such magnitude have been involved. This naval engagement isn't going to end the war.

What we can see is that upon the outcome of this battle, or series of battles, depends to large degree whether the allies will be able to give Norway immediate assistance in the way of landing expeditionary troops.

And it must be added that even if the allied naval contingents are completely successful, the Anglo-French brotherhood face a formidable task in that the Germans already are in occupation of Norway in considerable numbers. It would be a heroic job for a landing force to fight its way ashore in the face of such opposition.

Germany's coup in occupying Norway and Denmark is likely to have a far-reaching moral effect, and it might even mean another change in Europe's kaleidoscopic map, but from the present military standpoint there actually hasn't been much shifting of weight.

If we assume for the sake of argument also will affect the status of the $10,000,000 credit advanced to Norway last month by the Export-Import bank and an equal credit granted Denmark several days ago.

There seemed little doubt but that Norwegian Minister Wilhelm Munthe de Morgensterne and Danish minister Henrik de Kauffmann would be permitted to retain their status as envoys, even though Germany dominated their countries' June under the auspices of the foreign and domestic policy.

Extend Quarantine

Madison—(P)—The rabies quarantine on the city of West Allis was extended for another 90-day period in an order issued today by the department of agriculture.

The previous three month quarantine, requiring that all dogs be kept on leash, would have expired Sunday. The renewal, effective today, was based on discovery of several rabid dogs in the city.

The department also quarantined 14 square miles in Columbia county for 30 days following discovery of a diseased fox. The area includes eight square miles in Lodi township, and six square miles in Dekorra township.

Prudent Spending Has Helped City Rotary Club Told

Thompson Says Appleton
Is in Healthy Financial Shape

Appleton is in "excellent financial shape" and has a low tax rate because of a policy practiced during the last 10 years or so of spending money only for essentials and "letting the luxuries go," Alderman Charles Thompson of the Second ward said in an address before the Appleton Rotary club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

The alderman, who has been a member of the council 19 years, remarked that "the city has helped back a good many things we needed in order to be conservative," that much of the equipment used by city departments should be replaced and that he expects the city soon will face growing pressure for another school building in the north part of the city.

He said that during the depression, while governing bodies looked at indebtedness as stylish, Appleton "was very conservative" and that had it not been for the opportunity to receive federal aid, it is questionable whether a new high school would have been constructed.

The alderman pointed to the following facts as proof of the city's financial health:

A tax rate of $20, the lowest in the state for cities of this size, and a considerable reduction from the $3 level the city had "for years."

Bonded Indebtedness Low
Bonded indebtedness of only $1,139,000 compared with the 24 million allowable under the law on the city's approximate 47-million-dollar assessment. These bonds are for junior and senior high schools and the sewage plant.

"I don't like the attitude toward taxes which a great many have," the alderman said. "It is no taxes that should be examined but the budget. After all tax levies are determined by the budget."

He said that the "problems of Appleton are just like your own personal problems, that of trying to make the income go just as far as it will. Just as a person's income is fixed, so is the city's more or less by public opinion, the alderman said."

He pointed out that in outlining a budget, the council cannot be certain of items like snow removal and relief.

"Even the city council doesn't know how much it will snow this winter," he observed. "And we never seem to set aside enough for relief."

The alderman said he believes the public "should be glad to pay taxes for the services it gets in return."

Board Adopts Pay Schedule For Teachers

Involves Estimated Budget Increase of $3,000 To $4,000

SETTLES ISSUE

1940-41 Contracts Will be Issued on Basis Of New Policy

An "annual headache" for members of the board of education and teachers in Appleton Public Schools was believed eliminated last night when the board adopted a salary schedule to be used as a wage policy guide. The 1940-41 contracts will be issued on the basis of the new schedule and will involve budget increase of $3,000 to $4,000, Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of the schools, estimated.

Approval of the schedule points to the settlement of an issue which has hung fire for many years. It is the result of many surveys, conferences, proposals, counter-proposals, etc. In taking favorable action on the schedule—it was the ninth draft re-submitted by Superintendent Rohan—the board "reserves the right to discontinue or modify the schedule whenever it sees fit."

While not in the original form, it retains many features of proposals submitted by the teachers and will be presented to them immediately.

Annual $50 Increases
The schedule provides starting salaries based on the training and experience of a new employee and in most cases, $50 per year increases up to various maximums. Advances will be dependent upon satisfactory work in the judgment of the superintendent and board of education.

Mr. Rohan declared "some sort of plan is needed badly and would bolster the morale of the teachers." He pointed out that other school systems have definite schedules, the requests weren't excessive and the plan would attract needed married men.

"The schedule leaves control of salaries in the hands of board members and is not binding," he continued. "It can be raised or lowered at will."

Men, directors and department heads will receive an additional $100 and heads of families are to get $300 more than their bracket stipulates. No raise, however, can exceed $100 per year. The balance of amounts above the mark will be added in subsequent years.

Increments, because of sex or being the head of a family, will not become effective until after two years of experience in local schools.

FREEDOM HIGH HONOR STUDENTS

Pictured above are Arlene Groat, valedictorian, and Allen Groat, salutatorian, of the 1940 graduating class of the Freedom High School. Miss Groat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Groat, route 1, Seymour, earned a straight "A" average during her four years in high school, the only student in the history of the school to earn such rank. She also ranked 100 in the state intelligence test given all high school seniors in the state. She represented Freedom in forensics the last two years and was an extemporaneous speaker. She also is editor of the school yearbook and has one of the leading parts in the senior class play. Allen Groat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Groat, route 3, Appleton, is salutatorian. He has taken part in a number of high school plays and has represented the school as an orator for the last two years.

Evaluation of experience outside of Appleton will be made by the superintendent.

An individual's present salary or the nearest higher fifty or one hundred dollar figure, according to the schedule, will determine his starting place. Increments will begin at that point.

Teachers will be expected to attend summer school at least once every five years.

Salaries of principals, assistant principals, supervisors, kindergarten assistants and special teachers will be fixed by the board.

A request of the Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, to stage the annual council dinner in the high school gymnasium was discussed and tentative approval was given.

The board agreed to cooperate in the early dismissal of pupils for Clare Tree Major plays next year. Plays to be presented are Robin Hood, Beauty and the Beast, Heidi and Alice in Wonderland.

Bids for printing equipment at the senior high school will be sought.

Peter Rolf Inquest Is Scheduled Friday

An inquest in the death of Peter R. Rolf, 86, 32 Sherman place, who was killed in a traffic accident on College avenue April 3, will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the courthouse, according to Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney.

Rolf was walking from the north to the south side of the avenue early

Indian Agency Will Investigate Death Of Oneida Resident

The Tomah Indian agency, Tomah, is planning a separate investigation in the death of Peter Antone, 71, Oneida Indian, whose beaten body was found lying in a tavern yard near Oneida March 10.

Upon request, District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr has forwarded to the agency information compiled to date on the death. An inquest was held recently, but little light was thrown upon the circumstances surrounding the man's death. The inquest jury found that Antone "was beaten to death by an unknown party."

In the evening when the accident, involving a car driven by Mrs. Amy Clemens, 234 W. Spencer street, occurred, Jurors are Walter Steenis, Walter Oestreich, Peter Diny, Joseph Drexler, Sr., Mike Jacobs and Frank Ponschok.

America's inland waterways bore traffic of 466 million tons in 1939, valued at $17,019,000,000.

Schedule Hearing on New Price Schedule On Cash-Carry Milk

Arguments for authorization of a proposal for special cash and carry sales prices as suggested in a petition by patrons of an Appleton dairy will be heard at a public hearing to be conducted at the courthouse at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon by the state department of agriculture and markets.

The hearing may result in a revision of the fluid milk price regulations in the Appleton and Neenah and Menasha market which is regulated jointly with Appleton.

The petition to the department asks that milk plants with their own stores be given permission to charge a lower price for cash and carry milk. A number of dealers are expected to oppose any change on the grounds that it would increase delivery costs for dealers making house-to-house deliveries. A delegation of Milwaukee dealers is expected at the hearing to oppose the proposed plan.

Motorist Injured as Car Leaves Highway

Arthur Hoppe, 335 W. Washington street, was cut on the nose when his car went off County Trunk Z near the southwest limits of Appleton about 2 o'clock this morning and struck a post guy wire. He was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Clubwomen Hear Census Official

Survey Will Provide Data For Solving Domestic Problems—Kuypers

Kaukauna—The 1940 census as a great survey which will provide factual knowledge for the solving of domestic problems was explained before Woman's club members yesterday afternoon by John M. Kuypers, Green Bay district supervisor.

On the basis of census information cities may set up, or change their fire and police forces, health rules, school arrangements, and extend water mains and sewers. The information is valuable for zoning, and for attracting industries which have need of the special abilities of a city's citizens.

The census was taken originally merely to determine congressional apportionment, Kuypers explained, but has expanded with each taking to collect a wide range of facts needed to pay. Changes which previous roll calls have shown in population movements and employment were described.

Kuypers said that census takers were meeting with little opposition in their work, and that many citizens were surprised at the simple and impersonal questions asked.

Democratic Party Is Ahead In Maryland, West Virginia And Delaware, Survey Shows

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J.—If the Presidential election were being held at the present time, Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware would have to be considered "Democratic territory."

That fact is indicated in statewide political studies just completed by the American Institute of Public Opinion, as part of a nation-wide pre-convention picture of the coming campaign.

The three states, lying just south of the Mason-Dixon line, account for 19 electoral votes. Hence their value to the Democrats is approximately the same as that of Michigan, which has been leaning to the Republican side in previous Institute surveys. The importance of the three states is increased this year by the fact that each will elect a United States Senator as well as members of the House.

Following are the results of the Institute's survey on the question: "Which party would you like to see win the Presidential election this year?"

MARYLAND VOTERS
Favoring Democrats . . . 62%
Favoring Republicans . . . 38%

WEST VIRGINIA VOTERS
Favoring Democrats . . . 57%
Favoring Republicans . . . 43%

DELAWARE VOTERS
Favoring Democrats . . . 54%
Favoring Republicans . . . 46%

Democratic Drop
In nearly every state studied thus far in the Institute's campaign preview, the Democratic party has lost ground since 1936. Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware are no exceptions. But Democratic losses in these states are not nearly as great as they have been in the Middle West, nor as great as in nearby Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The Maryland figures show a Democratic drop of only 1 point since 1936, while West Virginia and Delaware show drops of 4 and 2 points respectively.

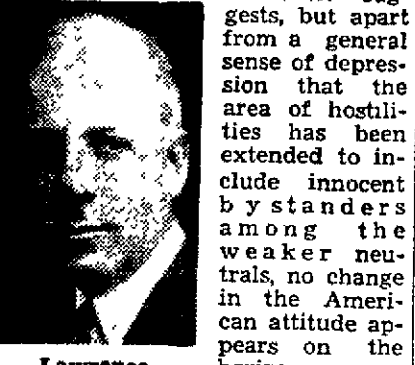

Whether these three states will remain on the Democratic side between now and next November will obviously depend on the choice of party candidates, the course of the campaign and other factors. But political observers will be especially interested in the trends in a state like Maryland, for Maryland has been an accurate political weathercock in recent elections. It has been on the winning side in every Presidential election since 1912, and four years ago the vote in Maryland came within 1 point of the vote for the whole United States.

Third-Term Sentiment
Voters in the three states were also asked whether they would vote for President Roosevelt for a third term, and their trends show how uncertain the outcome of such a race might be—even in states lean-

U. S. Attitude Is Still Unchanged Toward Conflict

Lawrence Says Only Army And Navy Affected in Regard to Preparations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Americans are thinking of the "potentialities" of the European war, as President Roosevelt suggests, but apart from a general sense of depression that the area of hostilities has been extended to include innocent bystanders among the weaker neutrals, no change in the American attitude appears on the horizon.

Lawrence
Only the army, navy and air forces of the United States can be said to have been affected so far as their preparations are concerned for what has happened in Europe merely confirms what these military folks have been saying for a long while, namely that governments no longer declare war, but act suddenly and without any warning.

To be prepared for any eventualities is the business of the army and navy and while nobody foresees at the moment any possible point of contact between any of the European belligerents and American interests, there is a tendency to be prepared for any surprise no matter how fantastic at the moment.

Thus as the area of hostilities is extended, it will become increasingly important for the Nazis to cut off, if possible, the shipment of raw materials or finished planes from Canada. Any day now it would not be surprising to find a few submarines of the long-range variety cruising in the vicinity of Canada. The British fleet cannot be everywhere on the earth's surface nor can her air forces protect British surface ships against all aerial attack.

Large Cruising Radius
The Russians have many air bombers of a large cruising radius, capable of dropping bombs at a considerable distance from their point of origin. If it is reasoned here, the struggle to prevent German iron ore from reaching Germany resulted in the mining of Norwegian waters by the British and the seizure of Norwegian and Danish territory by the Nazis, it may well be that later on, especially with Russia more active, there will be efforts made by the dictator states to cut off the North American continent as a supply base for the war in Europe.

Gradually as more of the earth's surface is drawn into the conflict, there is a tendency here to regard the future with considerable concern. President Roosevelt has all along felt that the world was full of potential sources of explosion and that any minute might see a complete change in the lineup of the belligerent forces.

Unfortunately, since this is a political year much that the president

IN 'SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON'

Sparkling with action and drama, Gene Towne's and Graham Baker's production of Johann David Wyss' immortal story, "Swiss Family Robinson," will show at the Appleton Theatre, Saturday, with a cast headed by such convincing players as Thomas Mitchell, Edna Best, Freddie Bartholomew, Terry Kilburn, Tim Holt and Baby Bobby Quillian. Few stories have captured the world's imagination as has this 130-year-old tale of adventure and peril on a South Sea island, a tale that has been a best-seller for more than a century, and the film faithfully visualizes its spirit and action. The adventure takes place during the Napoleonic era when all Europe was harassed by war and uncertainty.

The second feature is "Freaky Blonde and 21" with Lynn Bari, Mary Beth Hughes, Joan Davis, Henry Wilcoxon and Robert Lowery.

says is discounted, for it is no secret that most New Dealers feel that a serious international situation would provide sufficient justification for a third term for Mr. Roosevelt. The anti-Roosevelt elements in our national life, especially the Republicans have sensed this contingency and are inclined to look with suspicion on anything said or done by the administration in the foreign field.

President's Leadership
If President Roosevelt had followed his original intention, as expressed to Postmaster General Farley and had openly proclaimed his intention early this year not to be a candidate for re-nomination, the president's leadership would at the moment be impregnable. As it is domestic politics colors much of the thinking hereabouts and, as events in Europe tend to grow more tragic, several currents of thought are generated among the politically minded, one of which is the incredible, but nevertheless somewhat widely held view that the administration would welcome a series of events making America's participation in the war on the economic side more certain.

The usual chorus of comments from Capitol Hill to the effect that "we must not be dragged into the war" is being heard, but a different tune will be heard if any overt acts touching American territorial waters or interests should be mistakenly undertaken by the communist or fascist states.

There is a growing apprehension here in many quarters that war may be in the offing for all the world in the next two or three years, but nobody has yet suggested exactly how it might happen, and so far as the desire to remain at peace is concerned it is as strong as it ever was, but subject to change without much notice, depending now as in 1917 on what the belligerents do.

THE HOTEL OF TOMORROW REFORMA

Willkie May Not be in Race But His Speeches are a Relief

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER
New York—Politicians in both parties may well take note of the presidential boom which has made a political lion of Wendell L. Willkie, the big, woolly, good-natured utility man.

Not that he has the slightest chance in this campaign, or even thinks he has. He would take a nomination—it would be in the Republican party, in which he registered a few months ago after a life as a Democrat. But he knows, as do the politicians, that nothing is likely to happen. No, the significance of the Willkie-for-president boom is not in its practical character but in the light which it throws upon the public mind.

People in New York who might be expected to be boosting Thomas E. Dewey, their favorite son who has a real shot at the nomination now, are belittling him and talking for Mr. Willkie, who has no practical chance. Mr. Dewey may be the New York glamour boy out west but he ought to be jealous in New York, where Mr. Willkie is introduced at luncheons with flattering references to his presidential stature, is listened to as an oracle and is mobbed afterward by adoring ladies. And he's reveling in it. Senator Taft may have important New York money behind him, but it's Mr. Willkie who lights up the eyes and makes men murmur, "I'd vote for him for anything from dogcatcher on up."

This comes from businessmen who will find in Senator Taft, and probably in Mr. Dewey, policies more to their liking than some that Mr. Willkie espouses. In his quasi-political speeches he kicks the New Deal around and talks about how Washington is trying to get him.

But he is with Secretary Hull 100 per cent on the reciprocal trade program and against the whole Republican attempt to scuttle it. He would take a great deal more of the New Deal than Senator Taft would take. I suspect he plays not so much with the Wall street crowd and the N.A.M. as with the town hall kind of liberals, who eat out of his hand and with the literary people in New York. He delights in taking the debating platform with Norman Thomas for a polite game of intellectual tennis and he is the only Wall street spokesman who can get his line printed in Bruce Bliven's left-wing New Republic. Mr. Willkie pushes his nose under the tent by labeling himself a liberal and advocating civil liberties and fair play for the communists, for the fascists and for American business. He has become the most articulate and earnestly heard spokesman of business and its most plausible advocate on the political front, plausible because he is intelligent enough to recognize political realities and the necessity of making concessions to the public interest.

His Only Danger Is That Bug Will Bite Him
In fact I suspect that Mr. Willkie is tearing himself a bit between two impulses. Don't think for a minute that all of the time he is not saving wood for Commonwealth and Southern and trying to pull a tooth out of TVA and SEC whenever he sees a mouth open. At the same time he appears to be looking for broader horizons, just like the late Dwight Morrow who grew tired of being a Morgan partner, wanted to go into public life and end with enormous success and popularity. At any rate, Mr. Willkie is doing more than anyone else to bring businessmen back into political respectability and out of the role of whipping boy which was acquired by the activities of such men as Insull, who incidentally once lectured Mr. Willkie for his ideas as to how utilities should conduct themselves.

Mr. Willkie, without any political or literary assistance except a couple of research girls, is producing a volume of speeches and articles which have won him a national and respectful audience as a pleader for American business. On his new plush-upholstered soapbox he speaks frankly, and until some of his very latest political-type speeches he displayed a calm, broad sweep that makes the utterances of the ordinary conservative politician sound childish and too primitive for the modern world. People have responded to Mr. Willkie in relief after listening to ordinary political drivel. His only danger is that this bug will bite him very hard and spoil him, as it spoils almost everyone else.

NATIVE REGIMENTATION

If there is anything today to differentiate the fundamental political philosophy of the Republican party from that of the New Dealers and their fellow travelers, including the Wisconsin Progressives it is the emphasis on free enterprise and the promise to reduce government meddling in private business, and particularly small business.

It must consequently seem somewhat incongruous to the good Republicans when they read the dispatch published in this newspaper and others a few days ago detailing the fact that the state department of agriculture and markets deprived a Menasha farmer who sold milk in Menasha and Appleton of his milk distributor's license.

For the authority under which the department of markets acted in a manner which a score of years ago would have been denounced as high-handed and unconstitutional, but to which we have grown accustomed today, was delegated by Republican legislation introduced by Republicans and passed by Republicans in the 1939 legislature.

Public control of milk distribution in Wisconsin and elsewhere started many years ago. But its origin was found in the publicly accepted need for sanitary guarantees. Early milk control rules were health rules.

Today the theory remains, but it is ignored. The Menasha farmer's license was revoked, the right to make a living out of a business established by himself and his sons through hard work was denied, not because his milk wasn't clean and wholesome, but because he sold it for less than the state-prescribed price in his particular neighborhood.

The only basis for depriving this farmer of a business in which he has an important investment is the fact that he happened to live and do business at the wrong address. He lived in an area included within the state's price regulations.

Had he lived a few miles away, in Calumet county, or in Waupaca county, or in Shawano county, which is also a part of Wisconsin, he could have offered his milk at five cents a quart, or he could have distributed it free of charge, with complete impunity. The department of agriculture and markets would not have been interested, and he could have carried on his business without molestation.

Certainly it sounds silly. It is silly. But the fault is not that of the department of agriculture.

The law under which it operates is valid until it is ruled out by a competent court. Until that time department officers are duty-bound to apply its provisions, however illogical, unsound, arbitrary, and unreasonable they may be. The blame must be directed at the legislature, which in its profound wisdom proclaimed that the man in Menasha who sells milk for less than the figure set by the state bureaucracy is a criminal, while his neighbor across the county line is a good citizen under the same circumstances.

"KNOW YOUR MONEY"

One of the most interesting and productive functions undertaken by government is the campaign of the federal treasury to educate the public as to their money.

Up until last week the campaign was estimated to have reached one million persons. The campaign, planned on a five year basis, was begun late in January under the auspices of Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury. A motion picture film was produced by Frank J. Wilson, chief of the United States secret service. At present a picture is being shown by 17 of the department's projectors while seventy reels are being lent to schools and other institutions which supply their own operators.

It is estimated that at least 100,000 persons view the films each week. They are shown free, chiefly in schools. A lecturer attends each showing, stressing the points made in the picture, answering questions put by the audience and distributing leaflets on the subject of detecting counterfeiters. Half a million copies of the leaflets have already been printed.

The pictures show in dramatic sequence the story of "phony" money. They are a help to merchants and customers alike.

This is an example of one way that government can help the individual, one way that by spending it can save the citizen money.

AUTO INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Conclusion from a recent study of the Brookings Institution is that labor relations in the automobile industry are improving. In general, the survey disclosed that an increasing number of companies are making a sincere effort toward effective operation of labor agreements in force and the unions are becoming more reasonable in their demands.

From the automobile workers viewpoint, the benefits of the improved relations are shorter working hours, an increase in the hourly wage and extra pay for overtime. Perhaps even more important than all of these is that there has been less loss of time through strikes.

From the employers standpoint, the benefits have included a steadier and more reliable production. There have been fewer interruptions of manufacturing schedules, deliveries and distribution.

The public at large also benefits from the better understanding that appears to be developing. So large an industry as the automobile manufacturing business inevitably affects many contributing industries. When the automobile industry shuts down the workers of the automobile plants are not by any means the only ones who suffer. The employees of the concerns that supply the countless parts and pieces which go into an automobile also suffer. So likewise do the transportation enterprises. And also all of the tradesmen and others with whom the automobile workers naturally spend their money when they are drawing their wages regularly.

According to the report of the Brookings Institution more experience in the use of collective bargaining is one of the main reasons for the improved relations. Another way of expressing that is that both employe and employer are learning about friendly cooperation and coming to the realization that neither can profit when there is lack of cooperation, lack of intelligent understanding of each other's problems.

May it be hoped earnestly that the improvement continues. Labor peace in the automobile industry will be a vital contribution to national recovery.

CHURCHILL AND ENGLAND

The new authority granted Winston Churchill to reign as supreme arbiter by presiding at the joint sessions of England's army, navy and air forces undoubtedly was actuated as much to give confidence to the English people as any other reason.

Churchill has been a great statesman but since the advent of Hitler he has been snubbed and laughed at because he constantly lashed out at England's failure to prepare.

Seven years ago, when Hitler came to power, Churchill warned his countrymen that "we are vulnerable as we have never been before; there is not an hour to lose." Shortly thereafter, he again warned; "I cannot conceive how, in the present state of Europe, we can delay in establishing a principle to have an air force at least as strong as that of any force that can get at us."

Only a twelve months later Churchill became specific and began pointing directly at Berlin. He thus declared; "Germany is re-arming. That is a great new fact which rivets the attention of every country in Europe and throws all other issues into the background."

His country paid little attention to him. But the old piece of hickory kept pounding away.

Now his country turns to him, wishes to forget its derision, opens wide its arms for a friendly embrace.

Churchill may be a great organizer but he is also quite an old man for the tremendous demands upon nerve, heart and brain that war makes. Yet the man in the street will probably not realize this fact any more than he realized the value in Churchill's early warning, but will sleep better to know that one of his countrymen who understood clearly what was going on through the years, is now in command.

IN THE WICKED CITY

The opinion has been expressed frequently that New York is a wicked city. How often and to what degree that view is justified is a matter of debate, but those who subscribe to it must be surprised by the raging battle in the metropolis that led to a court order denying Bertrand Russell, atheistic philosopher, as professor at the City College of New York.

The wave of protest has even flowed beyond the city limits and into Albany where the state senate adopted a resolution demanding that the board of education rescind the appointment, within New York, the appointment has been denounced from the pulpit, by civic and patriotic groups, by individuals and by newspapers.

The uproar against this appointment is reassuring and corrective. It proves, for one thing, that there is a considerable and vigorous element in New York which still believes in old-fashioned teachings, least in the schools.

Since 1914, an average of 19 American cities each year have adopted the council-manager form of local government.

By the end of 1939 the total gold held by the United States exceeded 500,000,000 ounces.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—You don't hear much about him in the presidential sweepstakes, but one man worth keeping your eye on these days is Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia.

There have been two significant developments which may mean something to the future destiny of New York's "Little Flower."

First, it was no accident that he took himself out of the Illinois Republican primary. LaGuardia didn't want to be stamped definitely as a Republican. As a matter of fact, LaGuardia didn't want to be stamped definitely as a Republican. As a matter of fact, LaGuardia didn't want to be stamped definitely as a Republican. As a matter of fact, LaGuardia didn't want to be stamped definitely as a Republican.

Second, LaGuardia has made peace with Tammany. Or perhaps it would be more correct to say that Tammany has made peace with LaGuardia.

TAMMANY STRATEGY
This is extremely significant. For seven years Tammany bosses have been ready to give their eye-teeth to defeat the Little Flower. He is the last man they want running New York city. Therefore, they would be delighted to "promote" him—make him vice president of the United States or even president, provided only that he be promoted out of New York city.

So LaGuardia can count upon the full support of Tammany to get the vice presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket at Chicago next summer.

If the Democrats should nominate Hull or anyone else from the south or west, they would need a good strong easterner on the ticket. LaGuardia probably is the only man who could carry the all-important state of New York against Tom Dewey.

Note—Not to be lost sight of is the fact that Jack Garner and LaGuardia are old pals, dating from their association in the house of representatives, and have a genuine affection for each other. Garner calls the mayor "Frijole," and would deliver his delegates to him, whereas he would never deliver them to Bob Jackson or another out-and-out New Dealer.

ROOSEVELT AND HOOVER
FDR is on good terms with many of the Republican presidential candidates and party leaders. Landon, Knox, McNary, Joe Martin, Taft, Vandenberg, but there still is no great love lost between him and his Republican predecessor, Herbert Hoover.

Some time ago, Robert R. Gros, young Democrat leader from Palo Alto, Calif., went to see the president, and Roosevelt, knowing Gros came from Hoover's home town, asked how the ex-president was.

"Oh, we're keeping him under control," replied Gros.

"Oh no, you're not," shot back the president. "You're letting him come east too much."

"UNFIT" NAVY
The action of the navy selection board in retiring eleven outstanding flyers—when the admirals were waiting on Capitol Hill that there weren't enough pilots to man planes under the expansion program—was only one example of the incomprehensible aberrations of the navy's promotion system.

In 1938, Lt. Commander Clarence V. Conlon, aged 39, was "passed over" by the selection board as unfit for promotion. Conlon was then commanding the gunboat Monocacy on the Yangtze River, coping with Chinese mines and marauders on the surface and Japanese bombers in the air.

So well did Conlon carry out his delicate mission that on the recommendation of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, then commander of the Asiatic fleet, he was awarded the navy cross for distinguished service. Thus it happened that a few months after the selection board of brass-hats, sitting in Washington, had ruled him unfit for promotion and thereby marked him down for retirement, Conlon, 6,000 miles away on the firing line, was being decorated for "exceptional personal courage, a high degree of leadership and signal administrative ability in commanding his ship under trying circumstances."

While the anomaly of decorating for distinguished service a man who had not been "passed over" by the selection board may not have seemed strange to the brasshats, it did to Secretary Edison. He ordered a special selection board to reconsider Conlon's case. This time Conlon was pronounced "best fitted" for promotion and raised to the rank of commander.

Noted—Interrogated about the navy promotion system by a house committee, Rear Admiral Chester Nimitz, chief of the bureau of navigation, admitted, "I do not attempt to deny in any way that competent officers are being retired through the selection system. The committee also brought out that of 140 officers who had been dropped by the selective board and recently recalled to active duty, only 13 had been retired on physical grounds."

FDR AND FINNS
The Finnish war has been over for about a month now, but those who have mentioned it to the president still find him sore at the manner in which the Finns were let down.

Suggestions to Roosevelt that Russia was merely defending herself against future attack, and getting back a small part of its previous territory, cause him to explode.

MERRY GO-ROUND
It never leaked out, but Col. Phil Fleming, wage-hour administrator, once was arrested in a Chicago hotel, mistaken for Dr. J. M. (Jingle Money) Smith, ex-president of Louisiana State University, who fled the country after exposure of his stock market manipulations. Fleming was released after establishing his identity. . . . Jack Garnerites have been flooding the country with newspaper boiler plate. Several thousand small weeklies have been getting it. . . . While the Democratic national committee is bogged down, the Republican national committee is working at top speed, putting out all sorts of literature, taking advantage of every Democratic slip. . . . The GOP committee, incidentally, is working for all Republican candidates, not for one. . . . Some Democrats accuse the Democratic national committee of working only for Jim Farley—which isn't a fact. Real fact: it isn't working at all.

REMEMBERED SPRINGS

For all the springs that I shall not be here,
I shall enjoy this melting April weather;
Watching the birds come back; waking to clear
Glad morning songs as they commune together.

Heaven may hold more splendor than the flight
Of lonely birds back to their home again;
The crocus growing, April's changing light,
And the soft patter of the healing rain.

But my heart a narrow Paradise,
A little yard, with blossom of my sowing,
A patch of quiet lawn, and on true prize:
Dawn, with its pledge of peace, steadfast and glowing!

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison is seeing rare sights. A crack spy couldn't see half as much. A gob, working his eight bells on the same ships, won't see one-third as much.

Secretary Edison is, so to speak, in the crow's nest during one of the greatest maneuvers the Pacific fleet has put on. And the Pacific fleet is heart and soul of the United States Navy.

Sailing from San Pedro the other day after checking that new breakwater which makes it possible for the big ships to come within hailing distance of the off-shore cutters, the Secretary plunged into the middle of one of those U. S. Navy's maneuvers that must forever be a mystery to the people who foot the navy bill. He was aboard the navy flagship "Pennsylvania" called the "big flag" by the boys who chew our salt-water, because it's the floating castle of Admiral James O. Richardson, commander of the United States fleet.

He'll See All Ships
The Pacific fleet maneuvers are known as "Problem 21," which may or may not mean that the navy has come of age. But no matter what, Secretary Edison is going to have a chance to get his sea-legs.

That's the way the navy planned it. In mid-Pacific, he'll transfer from flagship to light-cruiser, to airplane carrier, to submarine, to what-have-you. He'll see the great "attack on Hawaii." In chart-room and on the bridge, he'll observe every move in one of those "holy of holies"—a great fleet maneuver.

At Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, after the battle's over, he'll inspect the largest army force that the United States has stationed anywhere off the continent—25,000 men.

He'll come back to the United States on the U.S.S. Nashville, one of the newest and latest and fastest of the navy's light-heavy cruisers—but not until he has sat through the "critique" and heard the admirals praised or hanged to yard-arm for the way they did their jobs.

Will He Resign?
In the vicinity of San Francisco, he'll inspect the Great Alameda supply base, the R.O.T.C. at the University of California. He'll go from there to San Diego to inspect the navy's biggest land air station; the destroyer base, the big marine base; and the vast San Diego naval training station.

He'll return to Washington with his head full of the knowledge of actual naval operations—probably more full than the heads of a dozen or so secretaries of the navy—for Mr. Edison is conceded by many to be one of the best we've had.

But his first observation of the inner workings of his department may also be his last. Capital chaff has it that soon after he returns, he will resign his cabinet post and enter the race for governor of the state of New Jersey.

Just a Step Behind the News
By Dave Boone

Well, you just don't know who's in this war until you get the last editions. And even then it's only a partial list of entries. They may have to number the players before they get through.

Everybody's violating somebody's rights any you can't tell what army is in whose country, or vice versa, without studying the situation carefully every couple of hours. Many, true to form, has invaded two more nations with which she has non-aggression pacts and is out to violate all rights, including the Scandinavian.

She explains, of course, that she's invading neutrals just out of friendship. She's afraid Copenhagen, Oslo and Bergen may get hurt by those mines in the Norwegian sea.

The news about Bergen caused the biggest stir in America and had millions of Americans shouting for intervention until they found it wasn't Edgar and in no way threatened the status of Charlie McCarthy.

Those Danes didn't even put up as good a fight as Paychek did against Joe Louis.

Well, the war has at last taken a belligerent turn and is beginning to look serious. It seems as though ever to say, "It's a localized affair and there's no danger unless it spreads."

10 YEARS AGO

Dr. John B. MacLaren was elected president of the Appleton Rotary club by the board of directors. He succeeded C. O. Gochmeyer. Louis J. Marshall was named vice president. Other officers were Walter Storch, treasurer; F. G. Moyle, secretary.

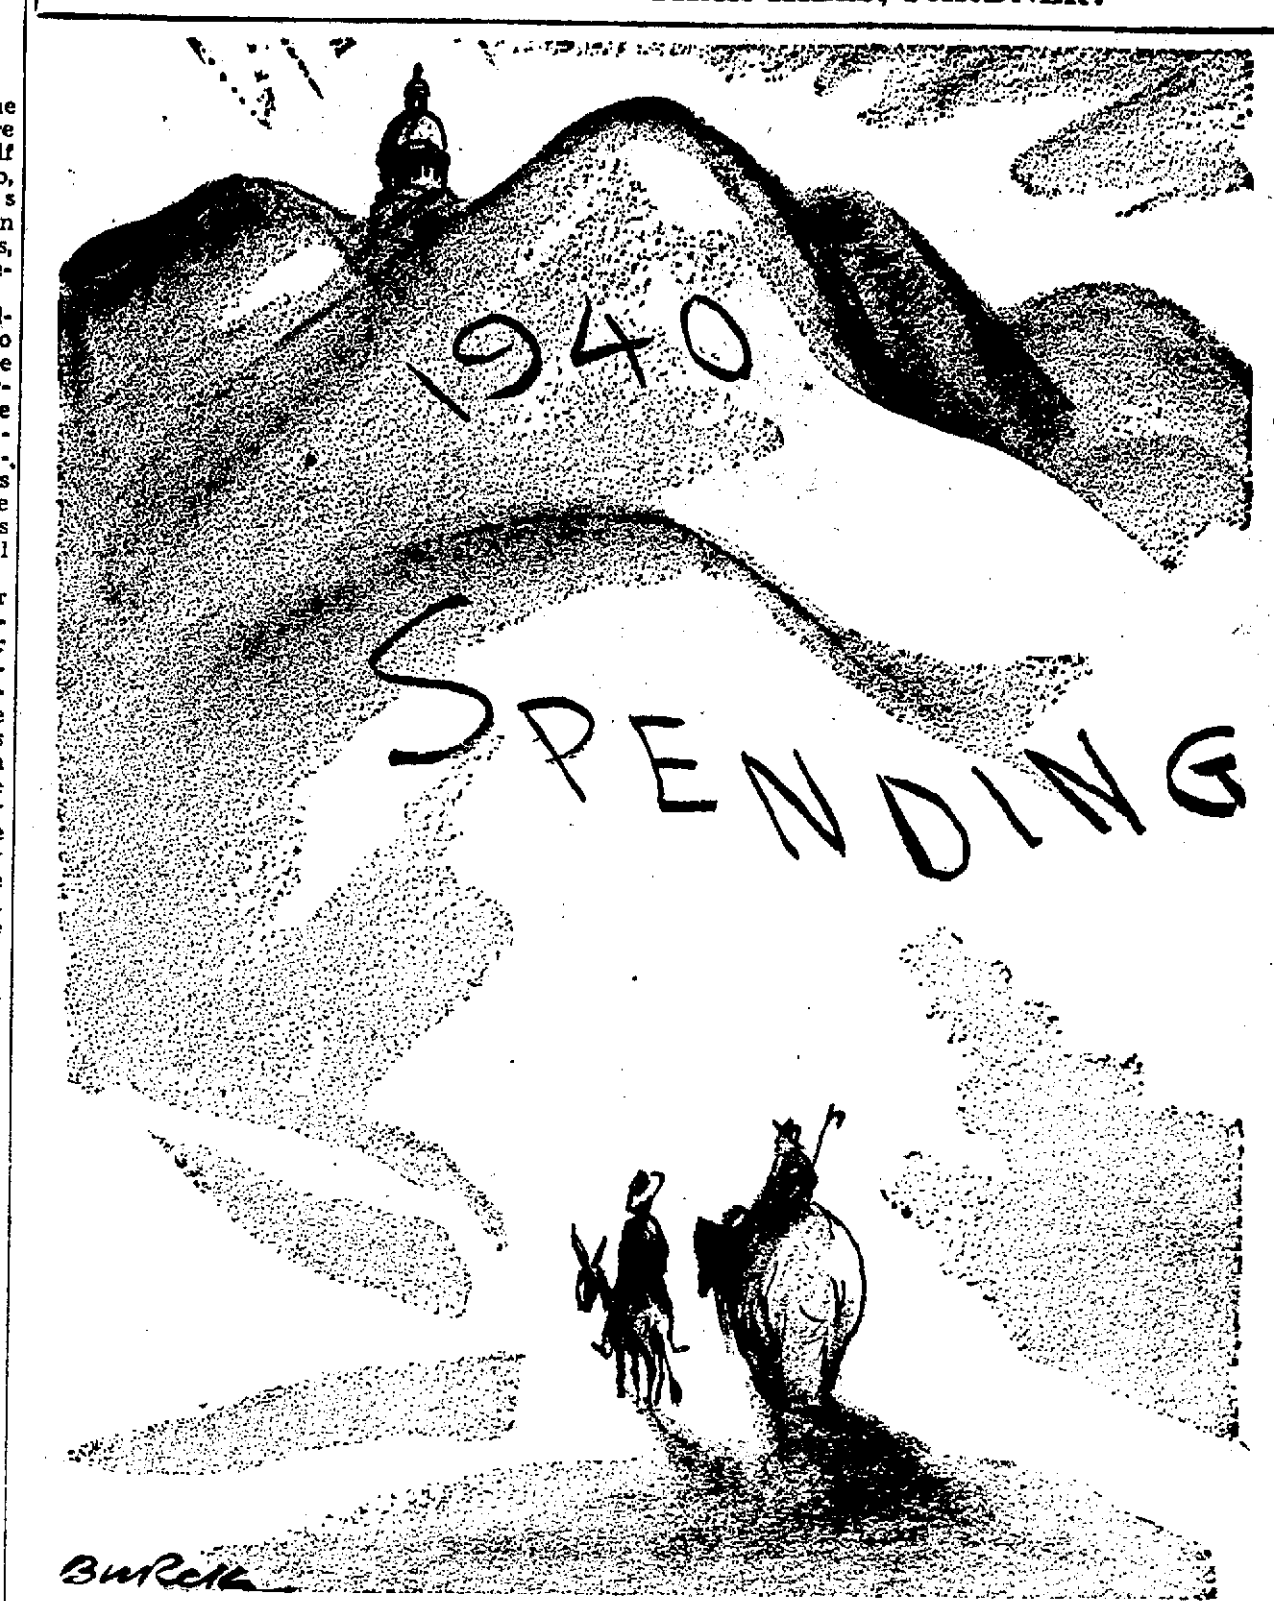

Lila Locksmith, Betty Meyer, Russell Wichman, Lawrence Osterhouse and Art Roemer, high school seniors, were named to membership in the National Honor society. E. H. Harwood was to again direct activities at the municipal golf course, it was announced by the park board that day. Mr. Harwood directed activity at the course the previous year and was instrumental in its construction.

Madison — Potentially the most significant state political news written in Wisconsin this year was the story of the survey to be conducted by the Republican county chairmen's group on the popularity of Governor Julius P. Heil.

Informed political opinion is unanimous that there is considerably more to that story than meets the eye.

As this department suggested some weeks ago, many highly influential Republicans, and among them some businessmen who seldom show themselves in party councils, aren't sure that Heil is their best bet on the state ticket this year. The movement for a poll on the governor's popular standing originated in the Fox River valley, and more specifically in Outagamie county, among typically realistic local politicians.

Although the impetus may have been furnished by some personal assessments arising out of patronage difficulties with the executive office, there is enough doubt inside the Republican councils of Heil's popular support for the unprecedented "survey" to have a considerable backing.

TWO FACTORS
There are two principal factors behind the amazing proposal of Republican leaders to ask the public for an opinion on the governor who led their party to victory less than two years ago.

Probably most important is the fact that Robert K. Henry is now a Republican and presumably available for any service to which the party will summon him.

Second is the fact that Governor Heil has committed so many errors that responsible Republicans honestly feel dubious about the wisdom of renominating him.

Those Republicans look at the record and find that Henry has a formidable record of vote-getting. They see behind him some elements they feel they need in another victory drive this fall. They look to Heil's record and find a constant succession of crises with important political elements over the necessarily difficult question of job distribution. They find numerous public statements and speeches which worry them.

To quote one example: An important Wisconsin paper manufacturer recently complained that Heil's stock fell flat in the paper industry when the governor casually remarked to the governor of a southern state that he would be glad to help the south reduce its freight rates. That's heresy among paper men, who with the public service commission have been fighting against southern campaigns for freight concessions for years.

To quote another: A leading Republican legislator, one who will be heard from in campaigns for high office in the future, reports that one of his main points during several stiff campaigns for election to the legislature was a defense of the oleo tax. But Governor Heil has publicly announced that he favors immediate repeal of the oleo tax, and has also assured the same

Personal Health Talks

TOO MUCH SALT

Some of the effects of excessive salt consumption are quite similar to the complaints which a great many readers have reported strikingly alleviated or remedied by potassium chloride tablets taken, of course, dissolved in water, two or three times a day for a while, or from time to time as needed. Detailed instructions for this are given in the monograph "Relief for Allergy," sent on request if you provide a stamped envelope bearing your address. Don't try to take ordinary potassium chloride and don't try to swallow it as powder, tablet, capsule or pill.

Too much salt tends to keep too much water in the cells and tissue, that is, it keeps the body waterlogged, so to speak, a state in which flabbiness, tired feeling, chronic fatigue is inevitable. In some cases of actual dropsical swelling of the legs or other parts of the body physicians prescribe a salt-poor diet as part of the general treatment. An attempt to follow such a diet in the hope of reducing high blood pressure, without particular regard for the bad hygiene, wrong habits or even organic or functional disease of which the elevated blood pressure is a sign or manifestation, would be a silly sort of mischief for a child-minded invalid to get into. If a salt-poor diet (salt-free diet is a misnomer) is advisable in any case the physician who prescribes it will instruct the patient what to eat and what not to eat.

Restricting the everyday excessive use of salt as seasoning or condiment has proved beneficial in some cases of tinnitus (annoying head noises) associated with deafness, but not for the deafness itself, unless this is due to so-called nasal catarrh. Salt restriction is distinctly indicated by chronic obstructive rhinitis, especially when the obstruction of one or both nostrils is intermittent rather than constant or permanent.

Headache is one of the complaints of persons who take too much salt. But, if you remember, we have advocated here, as a comparatively harmless remedy for headache, a large dose of common salt, namely, fifteen grains of sodium chloride in a salt-colded tablet every five minutes until four or six tablets have been taken. Oh, well, if we can't have it both ways, you may suit your own taste. I mention it, reluctantly, here because it is my duty to bring a SAFE remedy for headache to public attention even if it tips over my own apple cart. By the way, I have a new ten-page monograph "Why Have Headache?" — for a copy send Mackville that morning to witness a demonstration of a road machine invented by Harry Moscherosch, southern governor of that support.

COINCIDENCE
The opinion is becoming more general in state politics that if Governor Heil is to be retired from public life this year, the party will do the job itself in the primary. Even Progressives privately concede, after looking over the Tuesday election returns, that it is highly probable that Wisconsin will be back in the Republican column in November. With that goes a corollary probability that the Republican state ticket will be elected. Most Republicans will tell you that the only man who can beat Heil in the primary is Robert K. Henry. For that reason the county chairman's "survey" will be worth close attention, for Henry indubitably figures in that scheme.

stamped envelope bearing your address.

Two thirds of the weight of a healthy adult is water. Excessive salt consumption retains too much water in the cells and tissues and blood. In a healthful birth control the daily salt intake should be reasonably restricted. Individuals who habitually add too much salt to their food generally reduce several pounds and look and feel better if they cut out the use of salt as a condiment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Baldness
Is baldness hereditary? Is leprosy contagious? Please answer, so I can quote your opinion in our debating class. (Miss A. S.)

Answer — Premature baldness seems more prevalent in certain families, although I have no opinion as to whether this is due to heredity. Leprosy is only feebly infectious, not contagious in the strict sense. In many instances families have lived for years in intimate contact with lepers with no evidence of infection of other members of the family.

PIANIST HERE MONDAY EVENING
Artur Rubinstein, (above) world famous pianist, will appear in Memorial chapel Monday evening. His will be the final recital of the 1939-40 Community Artist Series.

Artur Rubinstein Will Play 3 Pieces From 'Petrouchka'

WHEN Artur Rubinstein, the famous and dynamic Polish pianist, appears in Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening, April 15, he will present a program similar in arrangement to the recital given in Carnegie Hall, New York, in March. Critics commented on the originality and ingenuity of Rubinstein's program arrangement, since he put his group of compositions in the middle of the list, instead of ending with them, began with Bach and finished with Chopin.

The modern group on Monday night will include Debussy's "Prelude in A Minor" and the descriptive "Ondine," as well as three pieces from Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." Written originally as a ballet, the suite was then arranged for orchestra by Koussevitzky in collaboration with the composer himself. More recently, Stravinsky has made a piano arrangement of the suite, which was written for and dedicated to Artur Rubinstein.

The scene of "Petrouchka" is a great public square in St. Petersburg, about one hundred years ago. The central characters are a showman who exhibits animated puppets, his three principal characters being a ballerina, or dancing girl, a Blackamoor, informed with a wild and fiery nature, and Petrouchka, a clown. The music represents not only the action of the puppet-show, but that of the native carnival which is taking place in the public square. The first episode of the set, the suite was then arranged for orchestra by Koussevitzky in

Legion Auxiliary at Hortonville Makes Health Clinic Plans

Hortonville — The American Legion auxiliary unit of Hammond-Schmit post met Monday evening in the community club room. The unit is sponsoring a public health clinic. It will be conducted by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, and a local physician. The clinic will be held Tuesday, May 14. Besides the regular health clinic, school children and children of pre-school age will be vaccinated for smallpox prevention and inoculated for diphtheria. The second inoculation will be held on Tuesday, June 4. Both days the clinic will be conducted in the Hortonville Community hall. The auxiliary planned a benefit card party to be held in the club room of the village hall Wednesday evening, April 17.

The scene "In Petrouchka's Room" reveals poor Petrouchka, misshapen, ugly, suffering, kicked into his room. After a time, the ballerina, dainty and beautiful, is introduced, and Petrouchka loves her immediately.

The carnival scene is again portrayed in the "Russian Fair" when toward evening, with the revelry at its height the peasant crowd is gay and noisy.

In speaking recently of Stravinsky, Rubinstein admitted that the Russian composer had greatly influenced him. "Stravinsky attacked me because he lost that stupid sense of the importance of epochs. He is the property of all time and so it should be. Stravinsky writes in the Russian idiom but his ideas are world ideas."

Tickets for the Rubinstein concert are now on sale at Bellings Drug Store.

6-Man Football Will Be Played In Ninth Grade

Board Appropriates $1,000 to Equip Junior High School Teams

The football fortunes of Appleton High school should be vastly improved within a few years for the board of education at a meeting last night approved 6-man football for ninth graders.

The first step was taken last year when the coaching staff was strengthened considerably. Myron Seims was given the position of head coach and the aid of two competent assistants, John Mack and Pete Brice.

The board hopes to add a fourth man with gridiron knowledge this year.

In submitting his recommendation, Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, hinted that the entire conference may follow suit.

Presents Opinions
Mr. Rohan presented a survey of opinions by sport and medical authorities, both local and national, which tended to show that football for boys below the ninth grade endangered their physical welfare.

The board, however, had already appropriated $1,000 out of this year's budget to equip 80 boys at Roosevelt, Wilson and McKinley Junior High schools. Competition will be on intramural basis with two teams at McKinley and four teams at each of the other two schools. The 10 teams will be divided into two weight divisions in an effort to reduce chances for injury.

The 6-man type of game, while retaining the basic elements of the regulation sport, eliminates much of the bodily contact and is far less expensive, Mr. Rohan pointed out.

The present physical education staff will direct the sport.

Summarizes Characteristics
In summarizing the physical characteristics of the adolescent boy, facts which should influence the program of athletics for junior high school, Mr. Rohan said "the increase in strength does not keep pace with the increase in growth. The bigger the boy, the more pronounced is the lack of coordination."

"Height is very much out of proportion to weight. He tires easily and gets hurt more often than a fully developed boy. The development of the body structure is faster than that of the heart and its blood vessels and the heart can be overstrained through strenuous competition."

"The adolescent should be taught to live within the limits of his physical ability and requires games that are not fatiguing, yet interesting," he concluded.

Among subjects covered in the study and their authors are "Physical Characteristics of Boys from 12 to 15 Years," by an Appleton doctor and William Pickett and Lawrence Witzke, high school physical education instructor; "Psychology of Adolescence," by Luella Cole, Ph.D.; "Aims of Physical Education," by E. Heseltin and A. C. Denney, Lawrence college sports coaches; "Objectives of Interscholastic Athletics," by Appleton High School coaches; "The Athletic Philosophy Sound," by William Ralph LaPoste, University of Southern California, briefed by Ray Montieth, Wilson Junior High school instructor.

Early Diagnosis Vital in Drive On Tuberculosis

WATA Secretary Stresses Importance of X-Ray In Talk at City Hall

Emphasizing the importance of X-ray pictures in discovering early cases of tuberculosis, Dr. J. A. Carswell, Milwaukee, associate executive secretary of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, spoke Tuesday night in the council chambers of the city hall under the auspices of the Appleton chapter of the W.A.T.A.

The X-ray is invaluable, he said, because it will find many early cases of tuberculosis before any symptoms are noticeable. He also stressed the value of testing high school students for tuberculosis, because the disease usually begins in the teen ages.

Since Dr. Carswell spent the 31 years prior to his coming to Wisconsin in Alaska, he is especially well acquainted with the fight against tuberculosis in that territory, and described some of the work done there for his audience last night. He was director of communicable disease control for the Territorial Board of Health at Juneau. Sixty per cent of this communicable disease was tuberculosis, he explained.

Tells of Work in North
Social and economic conditions among the Eskimos were the worst he had ever seen, he said. Because they live in remote and sparsely settled regions, it is also difficult to reach them, but Dr. Carswell was fortunately able to travel by plane. He tuberculosis tested 5,000 children while he was in Alaska and found many of them infected. Of the 30,000 natives, 4,000 have tuberculosis, and 2,300 need sanatorium care or its equivalent, he declared, but there is no sanatorium in Alaska.

Voluntary workers are, however, banding into Anti-Tuberculosis associations to help fight the disease. By comparison Wisconsin has been doing excellent work, the doctor pointed out. The death rate is steadily decreasing, and yet tuberculosis is still the commonest cause of death between the ages of 15 and 40, he said.

Early diagnosis is the way to eradicate it, he continued. He urged that more attention be paid to the social and economic problems of the patient's family, so that he may take his rest cure without having to worry about his family's finances. The doctor also warned that discharged cases be tested periodically to prevent recurrence of the disease.

After Dr. Carswell's lecture a new sound film, "Cloud in the Sky," recently produced by the National tuberculosis association with Christian Science funds, was shown. Its story laid in a Mexican community, it stressed the importance of testing every member of a family in which there has been a tuberculosis victim.

Miss Carrie Morgan, president of the Appleton chapter of the W.A.T.A., presided at the meeting. Miss Jane Barclay gave a report on the association's recent state convention.

Great Sea Fight Reported Raging Near Swedish Zone

mans were sunk and that the German ammunition ship Ravensfeldt was blown up.

The German force, which Chamberlain said was composed of six of the "latest and largest type," was left "in no position to attempt pursuit," he said.

The British destroyers steamed into Narvik fjord to engage the German craft. They ran into fire from shore batteries and German guns newly-mounted ashore, Chamberlain related.

The British destroyer Hunter was sunk and the Hardy was damaged so severely that she "had to be run ashore and became a wreck," the prime minister continued; the Hotspur received serious damage and the Hostile slight damage, while the Havoc was "untouched."

The German destroyer "torpedoed and believed sunk" was a 1,600-ton vessel, Chamberlain said, suggesting the others left burning were of the same type.

Although details necessarily were guarded under a military secrecy, allied and German warships and planes were believed to be fighting up and down the Norwegian coast.

Navy "Not Idle"
French Premier Paul Reynaud told the French senate today that "a great battle is going on in the North Sea," and British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax told a luncheon audience that he could assure them "that the British navy is not idle."

In Berlin the German high command acknowledged the loss of two cruisers, the 10,000-ton Bluecher and the 6,000-ton Karlsruhe, but said they went down under Norwegian coastal fire and a mine explosion on the Norwegian east coast yesterday.

The Germans said that in air raids yesterday they had scored hits on four allied battleships, two battle cruisers, three heavy cruisers and two transports, but the British admiralty said that only two warships were slightly damaged by splinters.

Lord Halifax declared at the luncheon today that the allies would fight for Norway regardless of any terms she may reach with Germany. He said such terms would be regarded as made "under duress."

Whereabouts of the British battle fleet was not known.

Britain claimed other successes. In synchronized air forays against the German fleet off Bergen, southwestern Norway, one German cruiser was hit once and another three times, the communique said, and a British submarine torpedoed a German cruiser off south Norway last night.

"It is thought that the cruiser was sunk," the admiralty announced.

The unsuccessful British destroyer raid was regarded as only the prelude to a crashing symphony of shell fire from the world's heaviest naval guns, for the admiralty communique failed to divulge the whereabouts of a British battle fleet.

Since the war began last Sept. 1, six other British destroyers have been lost with 563 men.

"For reasons of national interest," amplification of the communique was refused. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, was to give the house of commons a statement on the naval operations this evening.

Asserting that the Scandinavian operations were only beginning, British sources contended that Germany's cruiser strength already was greatly depleted. (Germany acknowledged today that the cruisers Bluecher and Karlsruhe had been sunk in operations against Norway.)

Comparative Strength
London naval sources said that at the outbreak of war Germany had built or had under construction five heavy cruisers, four medium cruisers and six light cruisers. They contended three now had been sunk and four damaged. On the other hand, they said Britain started the war with 179 destroyers against Germany's 22.

The admiralty communique follows:

"British destroyers attacked enemy forces in Narvik at dawn today and encountered strong opposition. H. M. S. Hunter was sunk and H. M. S. Hardy ran ashore. The remainder withdrew.

"No details of casualties on these ships are yet available but complete lists will be published as soon as possible and the next of kin may be assured that they will be informed by telegram without delay.

"Enemy losses are not yet known for certain but there is an unfurnished report from Stockholm that a German cruiser was sunk. One of our submarines torpedoed an enemy cruiser off south Norway last night and it is thought that the cruiser was sunk.

"Bombers of the air force attacked an enemy cruiser off Bergen last night and attained one hit. Bombers of the fleet air arm also attacked an enemy cruiser in Bergen this morning and obtained three hits."

The Hunter, a destroyer of 1,335-ton displacement with a normal complement of 175 men, was launched in 1936. Her armaments included four 4.7-inch guns, six smaller guns and eight 21-inch torpedoes.

ARM IS BROKEN
James Wegand, 22, 612 Crooks avenue, Kaukauna, suffered a fractured left arm when it became caught in a machine at the Thimney Paper mill, Kaukauna, yesterday afternoon. He is confined to St. Elizabeth hospital.

All threat of resistance apparently was ended in Denmark. The official German news agency, DNB, said the only show of resistance had occurred about six miles from the frontier, where Danish soldiers barricaded themselves in a building but surrendered when they saw it was useless to fight.

Danish civil life was reported to be proceeding much as usual, though DNB said the bourse in Copenhagen had been closed indefinitely, all commercial air traffic suspended and a strict blackout enforced throughout the country.

$5,500 Is Sought In Joint Action

Traffic Damage Suit Opens in Circuit Court This Morning

Damages of $5,000 are asked by Miss Germaine Lamers and $500 by her guardian and father, Peter Lamers, Little Chute, in a joint action which opened in circuit court of Judge Joseph R. McCarthy this morning against Woodrow Alger, 204 E. Eighth street, Kaukauna, and the Western Casualty company.

Miss Lamers was injured in an accident involving her bicycle and a car driven by Alger at the Combined Locks park Sept. 5, 1935. Alger was backing up when the accident occurred.

Jurors hearing the case are Mrs. Rose Farrand, Peter J. Gloude, Mrs. Eleanor J. Gmeiner, William Greb, William F. Hahn, Alfred J. Hintz, Louis C. Huebner, E. G. Johnson, Joseph S. Martineau, John L. Merkel and Franklin J. Sommers.

was ended in Denmark. The official German news agency, DNB, said the only show of resistance had occurred about six miles from the frontier, where Danish soldiers barricaded themselves in a building but surrendered when they saw it was useless to fight.

Danish civil life was reported to be proceeding much as usual, though DNB said the bourse in Copenhagen had been closed indefinitely, all commercial air traffic suspended and a strict blackout enforced throughout the country.

Not Conquered
Authorized sources continued to insist that neither Denmark nor Norway could be considered in the slightest sense "conquered regions."

They contended that much of the foreign trade carried on by the two countries would vanish, however, under the present situation, and said that Germany naturally would be responsible for participating in their economic readjustment.

The present military "protection" which Germany is extending to the Scandinavian countries will be given up as soon as the possibility of their involvement in war is removed, it was said, "or until Britain is crushed."

They contended that there had been various clashes at sea, but disclaimed knowledge of any extensive naval battle.

The extent of warfare in the north remained unclear, however, for the high command communique said "operations at sea still are underway."

refuge yesterday. The outcome was not known.

Informed German quarters said they expected a complete agreement with King Haakon shortly. The German minister to Norway had an audience with the monarch at noon (6 a. m. E. S. T.) to clarify the situation and determine who is responsible for governing Norway, an official announcement said.

(British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax said today that the allies would regard German-Norwegian negotiations as "action taken under duress.")

It was clear that Germans here did not regard the government proclaimed yesterday by the Norwegian nazi leader, Major Vikund Quisling, as necessarily the new government. They suggested that he proclaimed it without authorization and that Germany might come to terms with the government of Premier Johan Nygaardsvold.

Germany disclaimed interest in both Iceland and Greenland, which are under the Danish crown, despite the occupation of Denmark.

While losing two cruisers in landing troops in Norway, Germany claimed successes against British naval units off Norway's west coast. "British naval forces and transports" which the Germans said had been commissioned to land troops in Norway following Monday's mining "were attacked and decisively defeated," by German bombing planes yesterday afternoon, the German communique said.

"In particular," said the communique, "were four battleships by either two or three bombs, two battle cruisers by one bomb each, two heavy cruisers with two and one bombs respectively, one cruiser was set afire by a bomb hit and two transports were struck by one bomb each."

Britain acknowledged the loss of two destroyers, the Hunter and Hardy, in an unsuccessful attack on Narvik, on the Norwegian north coast. The British claimed a direct hit on a German cruiser of a 6,000-ton class in Bergen harbor, also on the west coast.

The German cruisers acknowledged lost under Norwegian coastal fire were the 10,000-ton Bluecher, a vessel completed only last August, sunk in Oslo fjord, and the 13-year-old 6,000-ton Karlsruhe, sunk similarly at Kristiansand after safeguarding the landing of troops.

"Protect Neutrality"
It was insisted that German action to "protect the neutrality of the northern states" was finished and it was stated flatly that no steps in relation to Sweden were contemplated.

The Scandinavian states were pronounced by one commentator to be "100 per cent secure against the western powers' desire to involve them in war."

"Norway and Denmark" this source said, "may now be positive that the danger of war is over for them, and they may also be sure they have nothing to fear from Germany."

Germans described the military occupation of strategic points in Norway so general and so thorough that the British-French allies under no conceivable circumstances could obtain a foothold in Scandinavia.

There was obvious satisfaction in the foreign office over the attitude adopted by Sweden, which was said to have promised to remain strictly neutral.

Authorized sources continued to insist that neither Denmark nor Norway could be considered in the slightest sense "conquered regions."

They contended that much of the foreign trade carried on by the two countries would vanish, however, under the present situation, and said that Germany naturally would be responsible for participating in their economic readjustment.

Finesse That Works May Be Just a Trap

BY ELY CULBERTSON

The mere fact that a finesse appears to be successful does not necessarily mean that it is. Your opponent may have hoped that you would rely on the finesse and make a mistake. Just such an elementary ruse worked the downfall of the glibble declarer in the hand below:

North, dealer.

The bidding:

North East South West

1 diamond Pass 1 spade (1) Pass

2 spades (2) Pass 3 no trumps (3) Pass

4 spades (4) Pass 5 Pass 6 Pass

1. Altho his distribution is just as well suited to no trump, South properly shows his biddable suit first.

2. North has but little more than a minimum, but with four trumps and a singleton, easily has the strength necessary to raise.

3. Offering a choice between game at no trump and at spades.

4. North prefers that the hand be played at spades.

North's bidding had indicated a short suit. West, therefore, made the excellent opening lead of a low trump. South won with the queen and laid down the ace of trumps. When East showed out, South continued with the ten of trumps. West won with the king and returned a trump. South led the queen of diamonds, and when that was permitted to hold the trick, decided that he now could afford to play for extra tricks. He led a small club to the ace and returned to his hand by leading a small heart to the queen. West permitted this to hold. Notice that this is essentially the same play as East's hold-up with the king of diamonds. Convinced that his opponents were philanthropists, South cashed the king of clubs and took a second diamond finesse.

He had a rude awakening when East won with the king of diamonds and returned a club. The defense hastily gathered in the queen and ten of clubs, and the ace of hearts in addition to the king of diamonds.

South should not have relied too much on the apparent success of his diamond finesse. He should have continued with the suit, forgetting entirely about the club king. The club king was not necessary for his contract and it was not safe to cash it until both the king of diamonds and the ace of hearts had been forced out.

THE HOME GARDENER

by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Humus is a word used almost daily in every bit of garden literature prepared for the public yet most readers look on the material in an obscure way. "What is humus?" is a general question.

Humus is one or a combination of several plant materials weathered to an advanced stage of decomposition, usually dark in color and uniform in texture. The most familiar form is the peat moss sold by seedsmen. This is an imported product as a rule, although lately some is being produced here. Woods leaf mold is another example.

Humus products are all dark in color and, because of the color, are mistaken for plant foods. While humus contains some food elements it is far from a plant food and should not be used under any circumstances, be considered a food. Its big role is adding to the water-holding capacity of soil and, consequently, improving the condition of lawns, flower gardens and vegetable plots. Adding large quantities of humus modifies and improves the soil until it becomes open and porous, thus allowing air and water to enter more freely. Plants growing in soil so modified can be hoed instead of hoed in late summer. Plants will then resist August drought better.

Light sandy soil holds about 8 per cent of its weight in water. clay soil holds 30 per cent its own weight while humus holds 10 times its weight in water. Adding a giant portion of humus to sandy soil and spreading over and spreading in an inch or two over the entire area of a clay garden plot makes both soils nearly ideal.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

The hair is parted on the side with sculptured rolls on left and right—keeping the head silhouette small and classic. The back is brushed sleekly with curls falling low on the neck.

Lura de Gez feels that coiffures should look well with hats. Note how the top sculptured curls swirl over the turban and the back curls show just enough for hair and hat harmony.

A great deal of comfort and hair beauty can be derived from finding an expert hairdresser and trusting your head to his or her hands. He not only should be capable of keeping your scalp in a healthy condition, but he should know how to set your hair so it looks well with your hats and may be combed into an engaging style for evening.

As she likes women to wear ornaments in their hair at night—a little bow, flower or jewel—she sets the hair to accommodate the ornament. Effective high rolls or curls in front, and an unusual interest in back, according to the shape of your face, your personality and your age. No two settings are similar for she feels what is best for you as her deft fingers work.

The hair is so combed and twisted that when it is dry you may comb it in toward your scalp in curls or rolls, or outward. Either way you desire. This permits different styles from the one setting. For instance, one of your hats may require a sleek combing—something casual. If your hair is set well you may comb it into a casual hair-do for day wear and come night (when you want to look exotic) you may comb the hair back into a more glamorous hair-do without having destroyed the waves or curls of the original setting.

Hair Must Be In Good Condition. The only hitch in such versatility, is that your hair must be in a pretty good condition. If it is too dry and frizzy, no curl will hold for long. Keep your hair well brushed (brushing beautifies it a mile), and keep your scalp lubricated if it tends to be very dry. An oil shampoo before a setting is a good rule to follow, or you may use a slightly oily tonic on your scalp daily. Select a reliable lotion for dry hair condition, and then learn to apply it sparingly with absorbent cotton. The brushing will carry it to the entire length of the hair, thus giving it a sheen and making it more manageable.

Too oily hair also is difficult to set attractively. The condition should be corrected through diligent care.

Be Open to Suggestion. If you have been wearing your hair in the same old fashion for years, be open to the suggestion of a good hairdresser. Experiment with a new parting, a different setting. Perhaps the first attempt will not be just the coiffure you want, but try again. Remember, too, that it takes two or three settings to train the hair to stay in a new way. You cannot expect your hair to remain high on your head the first week, if you have been brushing and combing it in a long heavy bob for ages. Give your hairdresser a chance to reveal his or her art—but with one caution—do not have your hair cut until you are certain you like the new style.

Treatment for Oily, Dry or Dandruff Scalp is Available. In leaflet form. Write for the leaflet you require, care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope to cover cost of mailing.

Mistake to Blame Women For Declining Birth Rate

BY DOROTHY DIX

It is the fashion to blame women for the declining birth rate and to say, when there is only one child or no child at all in a household, that it is because the wife is too selfish, or too cowardly, or too self-indulgent to go through the agony of child-bearing and the years of slavery of child-rearing. But I think that this is a mistake, and that it is men rather than women who are the ones who are anxious to escape the burdens and responsibilities of having children. Certainly, judging from the letters that come to this column, it is often the husband rather than the wife who does not long for the pattering of little footsteps in the house and who prefers golf to babies. I rarely get a letter from a man complaining that his wife does not desire children, but I get thousands of letters from women who are eating their hearts out in longing for the little child they will never have because their husbands don't want to be bothered with children. One of these women writes me:

"I am crazy for a baby. Suppose I am the maternal type. Anyway, I'd give my pearl necklace any day to have little arms around my neck. But my husband is not willing to have a family. Says children cost too much; that they are always having their adenoids out, or their teeth straightened, or they have the measles or something. And that they are noisy and troublesome, and that they would cramp our style; that we couldn't go away on trips together like we do, or run around to parties. We would have to stay at home and take care of the babies."

"And he says that if we had children we wouldn't be all in all to each other as we are now. They would separate us. Come between us. We need be more interested in them than we are in each other. Maybe that is all true, but I don't care. I want my baby all the same, and he doesn't!"

There are so many other letters similar to this from wives who want families and husbands who don't, that it leaves one to infer that the patriarchal spirit is not very strong in the modern man. Evidently he doesn't regard children as a crown of glory, but as a source of bills and something that keeps him from getting a new car every year. Given his choice between a streamline model and a screaming infant, he takes the car.

This anti-baby attitude on the part of men is no doubt greatly influenced by the fact that so many women continue on with their jobs after marriage. As long as having children did not affect a wife's economic status it was one thing, but when having children prevents her from bringing in her share of the bacon, it is a different proposition. It is the expense of the baby plus mama's loss of salary.

So long as there are no children the self-supporting wives are no expense to the men to whom they are married. On the contrary, they are not only a source of profit, but they make for their husbands a comfortable home that gives them more luxury at less expense than they could enjoy at a boarding house or a club. This makes it matrimony de luxe for hubby, but a baby breaks up this pleasant graft. Wife has to give up her job and her pay envelope. A more permanent home has to be established. A baby doctor has to be set up. And, all in all, it is not to be denied that a child is an expensive luxury.

Therefore, an ever larger number of men are avoiding matrimony. They want their wives as pals and partners, somebody to play with and yet who can pay their part of the score. But I think that they make a terrible mistake, and that in their selfish grasping at the pleasures of the hour they miss the greatest happiness that life can give them.

The man who never knows what it is to have little children's arms around his neck; who never sees little faces pressed against a window pane waiting for his return at night; who never hears little feet running to meet him or has tumbling little fingers search his pockets for the trifles he has brought them, has missed the biggest thrill that any man ever gets.

Moreover, no man ever glories in his own success as he does in that of some talented son or beautiful daughter. For that is his immortality on earth—handing down his name to those who will carry it on to bigger and better things.

And, finally I think that the man who deliberately denies himself a child is denying himself a life. He is denying himself a life that is as long as his own, and a life that is as full as his own, and a life that is as interesting as his own. He is denying himself a life that is as long as his own, and a life that is as full as his own, and a life that is as interesting as his own.

Biting nails, using the hands for rough work like picking stones and handling cement, thickens the skin and stunts the finger ends. Don't rest content when a child tells you how he would do a bit of work. Have him use his hands to achieve it and you will know he has gained the power that knowledge offers him.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

If you want to pep up your church, be sure to start with the music. And choose your hymns according to the three basic psychological purposes of church music. If your audience isn't singing lustily by the time it reaches the second verse, avoid that hymn hereafter, regardless of the beauty of its stanzas, for it is handicapping your clergyman. Stick to the hymns that result in lusty singing and wholehearted participation by all the audience.

CASE Q-133: Millicent J., aged 35, is musical director of a Chicago church.

"I feel that our pastor could preach a much better sermon if we could only get the audience worked up to the right emotional state by our music," she said.

"But it is difficult to teach people to appreciate good hymns. I have worked diligently and with church music, for no childhood memories of mother and her unselfish teaching are linked to the new tunes.

If it is necessary to employ new hymns, at least confine them chiefly to the children in the Sunday school. But if you wish to arouse the adults in an audience, select hymns which are tied up with their childhood.

As a rule, the average singer pays little or no attention to the verses, but drifts away emotionally into a return to his youth; to that golden age of childhood.

Choose hymns, moreover, which have a strong rhythm and a certain amount of swing. Don't use a tempo suited for funerals. Slow motion activity, whether in the tempo of music or in the behavior of a speaker before an audience, tends to put people to sleep.

Out of deference to your clergyman, please wake up the congregation by encouraging lusty singing. Please work up the emotional state of the audience to a generous and kindly plane so your clergyman will have a more receptive field in which to sow his ethical precepts.

How To Help Your Clergyman. Just because you graduated from a school of music or enjoy showing off your own soprano voice, don't let your selfish interests becloud your wisdom in dealing with an audience.

Remember, men cannot follow your soprano calisthenics. They like strong stirring melodies but in a lower range. Don't turn up your nose at what you consider simple church music, if it gets the audience to participate.

If you want to know the kind of music which really stimulates a crowd, visit one of those traveling evangelists who preach in tabernacles of wood or cloth at the edge of town. Their knowledge of how to influence an audience is excellent, and it certainly includes the choice of hymns.

Many of the stanzas for our church hymns have been written by old people. With due respect to their sacred memories, some of these stanzas are too funeral and ponderous for modern adults. Moreover, it is better psychology to use a few stirring favorites that always get results, than to try for variety every week.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

NEW NEIGHBORS

It is considered entirely proper for a wife to pay all formal visits for her husband by the simple expedient of leaving his cards with her own. This is of course a mechanical formality that might, under certain circumstances, be considered not quite friendly. Such a circumstance is described in the following letter:

"We have lived here for just a short time and already several neighbors have called on me informally. But yesterday a husband came with his wife; they introduced themselves and left their cards. May I go to see them now without my husband? He has only Sunday's free and he is usually not in the mood for paying visits when he gets out from the city every evening. If I may go without him, do I leave his cards with mine?"

Since this particular husband came in person to see you and your husband, it might not be considered very neighborly on your husband's part if you go alone to return their visit, even though it is "correct" so far as etiquette goes to do so. If you liked these people and want to welcome them to your neighborhood, then I think your husband should go with you this coming Sunday afternoon, or at least the Sunday following. Or if you know it is customary in your community to pay visits in the evening, then you can perhaps persuade him to go with you some evening next week. If you can't induce him to go with you promptly, it would be best, I think, to go alone and wait until he could go with you but that you hope he may meet them soon.

Girl Sends Man Flowers. Dear Mrs. Post: I sent a corsage to a girl recently because she had invited me to a dance. Much to my surprise, early that evening I received a carnation from the florist from her. Is this a general rule? I have never heard of it, and neither have the people I've asked about it here. We wondered if they did it in other places.

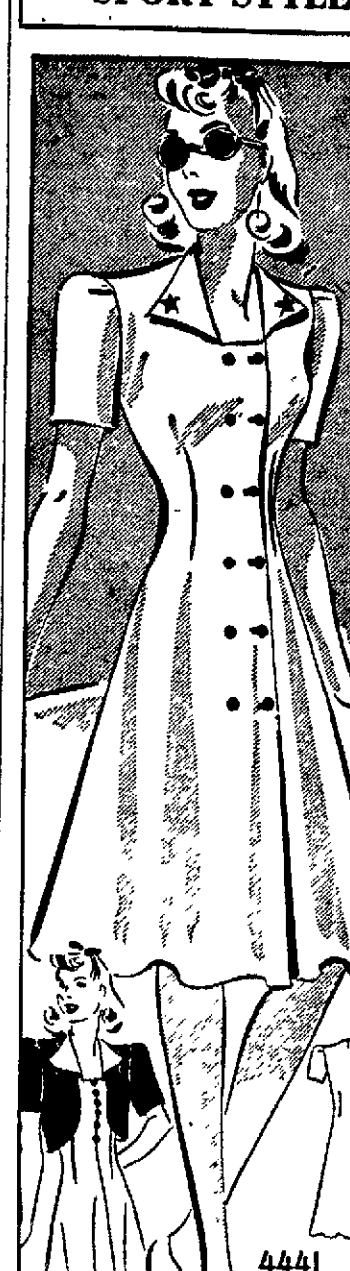

Answer: I would say that it was a very unusual occurrence anywhere. I think, however, it was an appreciative gesture on her part—a reciprocal one, perhaps, because of Leap Year!

Dear Mrs. Post: I received writing paper marked "Mr. and Mrs." and full house address. When is it proper to use this paper? Answer: I can't imagine what use it could be put to. The combined use of Mr. and Mrs. is always a formal one and utterly unsuitable for the utilitarian purpose of the name and address letterhead. The only way I can think of to make use of it at all is to suggest that you scratch out Mr. and Mrs. before the "Mrs." and write mail-order lists on it. Or you might "use it up" writing to your family, or in place of a telephone scratch pad.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to readers. Today's slip is "Visiting Cards and When To Leave Them." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

For a different appetizer or salad try an alligator pear-tomato combination. Cut both into thin slices, marinate in French dressing and chill for an hour. Sprinkle with lemon juice and serve on salad greens.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

Yesterday: Attractive Homi Toland is the rebel of the respectable Toland family. Her Uncle Timothy, who was also a rebel, has died and Allen Bartell, a young lawyer, is about to read the will.

Chapter Two
A Million Frogs
ALLEN BARTELL gave one look at Tom's flaming dress, then focused his attention on the long legal document in his hand. Tomi wondered if he usually breathed as heavily. It couldn't be the man was laughing at her again.

It seemed to her that he was having difficulty with his facial muscles. They seemed inclined to twitch. He started reading and Tomi found she was having a similar difficulty with her own facial muscles.

The will was a masterpiece of satire. Each request, from the dozen pairs of silk stockings to Great-aunt Hannah to the turnip watch, which didn't run, to Major Toland, was pointed. These bequests were something more. Each had a stated value. They established Timothy's remembrance of each and acted as a curialment of a will contest.

Looking at the dismayed faces about her, Tomi reflected that this was the first time she had not been made the butt of whatever joke was in the air. She regretted she had not made friends with Timothy. She hadn't known a Toland was capable of under-surface discernment.

"And to my great-niece, Tomi Toland—"
Tomi jerked upright in protest. She had done nothing to deserve inclusion in this ghoulish joke.

"I do hereby bequeath the bulk of my estate, liquidated and established in the following, to wit—"
Red lips parted, Tomi leaned forward and listened. "Farm, all buildings and implements, ten-room house and furnishings as listed, herds—last count one million head—"

"Herds! Tomi nearly bounced on the prim sofa where she sat hedged in between the Major and Aunt Augusta.

"Herds! For one heavenly moment she visualized herself in a ten-gallon hat, riding the plains. Oh, blessed Uncle Timothy. She'd better pinch herself. In a moment Molly, the cook would be shaking her and telling her she'd be late at the office.

No, that shaking was the Major, getting up breath for a pronouncement. In a moment he'd burst forth. There it came.

financial status for five years before it becomes hers to dispose of as she desires.

There was a moment of tense silence, then May Toland-Carrington pursed across to Tomi. "Never you mind, dearie. We'll help you run this place. I'll take charge of the house and Carrington will run the farm and the voices evoked a similar protest. It seemed he was again sorry.

"But under the terms of the will Miss Toland can accept neither personal nor financial aid from any relatives. Nor can she, during this probationary period, entertain any relative on the property more than once a year and for more than twenty-four hours at that time."

Tomi, listening, frowned with indignation. Not that she hadn't been planning to get away from the vision; not that she didn't long to have something of her own without their directing its use, but she was assuredly not giving up bonedage to the Tolands in the flesh to go into bonedage to a "Toland in the spirit."

The Old Fossil

"Of course," she remarked, "don't have to accept."

"No," agreed Bartell, soothingly. "Mr. Toland didn't expect you to. He said you had neither the vision to see the possibilities in the farm nor the stamina to pace the work."

"Oh, he did, did he?" flared Tomi. This sounded more like Timothy the old fossil. And why, if he felt

Council Ponders Steps to Expand Sewerage System

Committee Will Confer With WPA Officials on Aid Possibilities

New London—Plans for a city-wide, long term sewer project to modernize New London's sanitary and storm sewer system with the ultimate objective of installing a sewerage treatment plant were considered by the common council at an adjourned meeting at the city hall last night.

Steps to begin work on the west end of a north side sanitary interceptor sewer were taken when it was voted a committee should confer with WPA officials at Stevens Point in an effort to secure federal aid as a governmental project. The committee will be appointed by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt. If the WPA officials will accept an invitation to come to New London, the question will be discussed before a special meeting of the council within the next week.

Ten or 20-year program was suggested by Robert M. Connelly, city engineer, to rebuild the city's sewer system to meet state sanitation law requirements and to provide relief project labor as needed. The cost of even a small part of the work could not be estimated without long and detailed study, he reported.

North Side in Bad Shape

Explaining maps and charts drawn from his recent survey of the city's sewers, Connelly declared the north side in a bad state while the south side is quite satisfactory.

Greatest first need is a complete new interceptor sewer along North Water street from the city hall west past Elm street, a distance of over 10 blocks, to serve the Second and Fifth wards, he explained. The grade of the present connecting sewer is negligible far below state requirements, and for a distance of one block even flows backward, he stated. The opposite is true of S. Pearl street where grades are as high as 30 inches per hundred feet and the rushing flow causes backwashing, he pointed out.

The north side interceptor would follow the Wolf river along the alley south of North Water street as far west as Taft's park when the sewer would have to continue down the street, requiring the breaking up of two blocks of concrete pavement.

Temporary Pump

At the west end of the interceptor, pending construction of a sewerage disposal plant, a temporary lift pump would be required to raise the sewerage above the water level to allow the waste to drain into the river.

Because conditions are so poor on the north side, that interceptor will be the first to receive consideration. Another is proposed for the south side, to begin at the Edison

Wood Products plant and follow the bank of the river downstream to a point near the city camp site. The camp site or a point across the river west of the Fred Poole home appears as the logical location for a future disposal plant, according to the city engineer.

New sanitary lines also are needed along Elm and Waupaca streets, he reported and storm sewers on those streets must be installed separately. In all, about 5,000 feet of new pipe installation are required on the north side, he advised.

Explains Maps

The proposed system is designed to carry both sanitary flowage and some storm load in order that the whole city system need not be discarded, the engineer pointed out. The slight increase in cost for a larger disposal plant to handle the larger output far outbalance the greater cost of installing a complete new system.

Connelly explained maps showing the exact size, grade and location of every present sewer in the city and the proposed improvements. From a study of the community's past history, the plans are based on the requirements of a city of 10,000 population 50 years hence. Local storm conditions and average precipitation also must be considered. About 25 per cent of the city of New London is strictly rural and outside the scope of the contemplated sewer plans, he reported.

Leap Year President of Junior Class Names King to Lead Prom

New London—Since it's leap year and the junior class at Washington High school elected a girl president last fall, Genevieve Close, queen of the high school's annual Junior promenade scheduled for Friday, April 26, this week announced Robert Schoenick, a junior, as the boy to reign as king. They will lead the grand march. Miss Close is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Close, 519 E. Pine street, and Robert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Schoenick, route 3.

Student committees are working feverishly this week on 400 invitations which are expected to be mailed by the end of this week. The invitations will follow the theme of the prom decorations, a Spanish court yard.

The decorations committee has completed preliminary work and expects to begin actual decoration of the gymnasium next week. Large pillars have been constructed to make a series of arches along each side of the dance floor and red pepper vines will be strung. Strings of gourd are being prepared and Mexican blankets will be hung from the ceiling and balcony. A few imitation palm trees may be arranged also.

Resume Lime Crushing Work at Ruhm Quarry

New London—Operation of the WPA lime crushing project sponsored by Waupaca county at the Ruhm quarry south of this city was resumed Monday with the return of 18 men to the project.

The project was discontinued about six weeks ago when the lime was produced faster than farmers were using it but the huge stock pile of approximately 4,000 tons has been disposed of and an estimated 2,000 tons more are on order. An average of 70 to 100 tons is produced per day.

Waupaca county farmers have had the lime in this vicinity analyzed many times by the state agriculture department and it has been found to be of consistently high quality, according to the operators.

Workmen returning to the quarry have been transferred from other WPA projects surrounding New London and more are expected to be added before the 6-week period is completed.

"And if I haven't these two priceless qualities, what becomes of the estate?" she asked.

Bartell's gray eyes met hers, their expression hidden quickly by short, thick lashes. "Failure on your part to live up to any stipulation, in any way, will cause the estate to revert to me, to be disposed of in any manner I choose."

Right there was a catch. It settled the whole matter as far as Tomi was concerned. Sooner than see this person in possession of her frogs, she'd go out and live with the things.

"When do I assume control?" she asked.

Bartell seemed to relax. "Immediately," he replied. "I'd like to leave for the coast tomorrow; however, if that isn't convenient—"

"It isn't!" Hannah Toland answered for Tomi. "And the only place that young lady will go will be to her room . . . and immediately. As for you, young man, I'll handle you. I'll contest this will. Timothy was a victim of senile dementia; that you preyed upon his good will until he allowed you to draw this document to fit your schemes. Tomi, will you go to your room?"

Tomi arose. "But Aunt Hannah," she protested, "isn't this my inheritance?"

"Definitely not!" came the reply. "And if you persist in interrupting and assuming, I shall have to ask you to make an immediate choice between the family and the . . ."

"Frogs?" suggested Bartell.

Tomi debated only a moment. For Toland didn't need the money. For her to give up this breathtaking challenge, perpetrated by Uncle Timothy's ghoulish joke, was unthinkable. She couldn't. She'd accept her loss gracefully, if she failed. Meanwhile, she would have the fun of trying to win.

"Aunt Hannah—" her voice begged for understanding—"if you don't mind, I think I'll have a go at the frogs."

VIKE GRIDDERS OUT AND BERNIE GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

Lawrence college football squad got out of doors yesterday afternoon and Coach Bernie Heselton wasted no time in getting down to hard work. The spring drills began Monday when a chalk talk was held in the gymnasium. Yesterday's workout showed the boys in a lengthy forward pass drill and then getting instructions in blocking. In the above picture Heselton has his proteges grouped while he demonstrates on Bob Macintosh, husky junior center from Milwaukee. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Big Ten Baseball
Teams are Ready

Iowa's Veteran Outfit Is Seeking Its Third
Straight Title

Chicago—(AP)—Iowa's veteran baseball team begins campaigning today for its third straight Big Ten championship against Purdue at Lafayette, Ind.

Today's engagement is the first of a two-game series which marks the opening of the Big Ten race. Six other teams begin competition Friday while Minnesota and Michigan are idle in the conference until April 19.

Iowa, returning a seasoned crew of players, is again the title favorite after finishing the 1939 test with eight victories in 11 contests. The two most notable absentees from that outfit are Jim George, outfielder who led the conference batters with a .452 mark and pitcher Harold Haub, who was undefeated in four games.

Purdue, fresh from a Dixie tour which produced four wins in five games, figures to give the Hawkeyes a severe test. The Boilermakers follow the two Iowa engagements with an exhibition test with the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league.

Iowa, Purdue and Chicago probably own the best pre-season records. The Hawks won seven tilts and tied one. Purdue won five of six games and Chicago is unbeaten in four.

Three series of two games each are on tap Friday. Wisconsin playing at Chicago, Northwestern at Illinois and Indiana at Ohio State. The Maroons take on Armour Tech in a warmup today.

Indiana and Michigan tied for runner-up honors to Iowa a year ago and Minnesota and Northwestern were pegged at fourth place. Wisconsin and Purdue shared sixth place with .500 percentages. Illinois won four of nine games for eighth spot and Chicago and Ohio State were tied for ninth.

Fond du Lac Will Conduct School
For Ball Players

Harry Rice, Former Major League Outfielder, to Manage Team

FOND DU LAC—With Harry Rice, former major league outfielder signed as manager, plans for the Fond du Lac team in the Wisconsin State Baseball league today are being pushed for a baseball school and a general get-together of baseball fans.

Rice was signed by the Fond du Lac Baseball association over the week-end. According to the terms of the contract, Rice will manage the team for five months during the season and conduct the baseball school and spring training camp.

Opening of the baseball school to be held at fairgrounds park has been tentatively set for April 15. Spring training, according to league rules, will start April 25.

Players Invited
All of the other teams in the league including Appleton, Green Bay, Wisconsin Rapids, Sheboygan, and LaCrosse are making plans to open schools for scores of young players 10 or 15 days before the official opening of spring training.

All baseball players in the city and county as well as those from nearby counties are invited to attend the school, Rice said. The new manager, who left Saturday afternoon to complete business details in Minneapolis and Waterloo, Ia., said that every player will be given an opportunity to make good. He will return here Tuesday or Wednesday.

Secretary John E. Murray announced that the general get-together will be for all persons interested in the promotion of baseball in Fond du Lac. Refreshments will be served and a general "confab" session will be held. Fans will also be given an opportunity to meet the new manager as well as officers of the association.

Managed in Florida
Rice will spend the first week making contacts for players. Through connections with major league teams, the pilot is expected to obtain a number of good prospects. Thirteen players have already signed contracts.

Rice was chosen from a group of four prospects. Others were Eddie Stumpf, former Milwaukee Brewer catcher; Fred Schulte, former Washington Senator outfielder and Milwaukee Brewer; and Lew Ellison, Blair, a player in the Northern league.

Rice who plays both the infield and outfield bats right and throws left-handed. He was born in Anna, Ill. He started his baseball career with Paris, Tenn., in 1922, and advanced to Terre Haute, Danville, Ill., and Tulsa in 1933.

He then played four years with the St. Louis Browns and joined the Detroit Tigers for 1938 and 1939. He played with the New York Yankees in 1930 and with Washington and Baltimore in 1931. After a year with Minneapolis he played with the Cincinnati Reds in 1933. He closed his playing career with Toronto, Nashville, Seattle and Portland in 1935 and 1936.

He managed the Evergreen and Deland clubs in Florida in 1938 and piloted Cordele, Fla., in 1939.

Hockey Series Even After Toronto Wins

Toronto—(AP)—The Stanley cup hockey playoffs are right back where they started—all even between the Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers—and from here on it's going to be very hard to make Toronto fans believe the Rangers will win in six games.

That was what Manager Lester Patrick predicted, and it sounded good after the blue shirted boys disposed of Boston's league champions in a six-game series. But now the Leafs, beaten twice in New York, have evened the best-of-seven series with two straight victories on their home rink.

To win the series and the world professional hockey championship trophy, one of them will have to win two out of three more games here.

"We were just outplayed," commented Ranger Coach Frank Boucher last night after the Leafs had won, 3-0, to square the series.

LaCrosse Boxers are Winners Over Pointers

Stevens Point—(AP)—A victory in the final bout of the evening gave a CYO boxing team from LaCrosse a 5 to 4 victory over Central State Teachers of Stevens Point here last night.

Frank Guenther scored the deciding point when he defeated Coach Louis Drobnick of Central in a 165-pound bout.

Results:
125-pounds—Tom Rye, LaCrosse, defeated Ken Brenner, Central; 135—Pat Bouch, LaCrosse, beat Clarence Tohm, Central, and Bill Ferrell, LaCrosse, scored a second round technical knockout over Len Roppella, Central;
145—Dick Alberts, LaCrosse, defeated Joe Negard, Central, and Howard Stimm, Central, beat Clarence Driscoll, LaCrosse; 175—Jim Hanig, Central, defeated Bob Amunson, LaCrosse.

Heavyweight—Norman Halla, Central, knocked out Bob Moses, LaCrosse, in the third round.

Escapade From Cardinals Is
Chicago White Sox Prize

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
KANSAS CITY—(AP)—An escapade from the St. Louis Cardinals chain gang is the kingdom of the best rookie crop manager Jimmy Dykes has had in his five years as pilot of the Chicago White Sox.

He is 23-year-old Tommy Turner, who caught 137 games for Houston of the Texas league last year and belted the ball for a .312 average.

The National league club failed to protect its property in the draft and Turner became a White Sox for a paltry $7,500. Newsman and Sox officials wouldn't be surprised to see him the club's first string catcher by September.

"We came up with a pair of pretty good young hurlers in Valle Eaves and Orval Groves, three infield prospects and Turner. Isn't he a honey?" exclaimed acting manager Muddy Ruel as he watched the 6-foot, 1-inch athlete romp.

"It is the first time since Dykes has been in charge that he has had rookies who are ready to step into the big times."

Dykes was at the bedside of his wife, who is ill in Philadelphia. The Sox lost an exhibition to the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday 4-3.

Turner was an infielder on an amateur nine at Wichita, Kas., but donned the mask and protector because the catcher was hurt. The Cardinals heard of him and he was sent to Caruthersville in 1937 and Columbus of the Sally league, in 1938. Last year he set an active catching record at Houston.

"When I read this winter that I had been drafted by the White Sox I went half nuts with joy," the 193-pound Turner said.

"My whooping and hollering must have waked everyone of the 500 persons in the small town near Phoenix, Ariz., where my dad runs a service station."

It is likely Dykes will be doing the whooping and hollering this season with the youngster breaking into the lineup to replace either Ken Sylvestri, who hit .173 last year, or Mike Tresh, whose average was .259.

In spring training the Turner bat has rung so loudly the Cardinals are said to have offered $15,000 for return of the rookie they let get away.

Four Pittsburgh pitchers gave the Sox only six hits.

RUDY ETCHEN, Wichita, Kansas, is the world's greatest Junior trapshooter. Rudy, who was born in 1923 at Chicago while his father was framing up the Grand American trapshooting program, which was held at the South Shore Country Club, started shooting in 1936. He won the Kansas state Junior title that year and the Sub-Junior Championship at the Grand American which was staged at Vandalia Field, Dayton, Ohio. He broke a 96 in each of these competitions.

In 1937, the Wichita sensation busted a 95 to win the Junior Championship of Kansas and won the Kansas Zone Handicap Crown with 49 out of 50 from a back yard mark. He again won the Sub-Junior Championship at the Grand American with 95 out of 100 and tied for the B class championship of North America with 198 out of 200 in the main event and 124 out of 125 in a torrid shoot-off. He did not win the Kansas State Championship which is open to every gunner in the state, but did take second place in this important shooting match when he scored 195 out of 200.

In 1938 we placed Rudy on our All-American trapshooting team. We felt that a winner of the world with 98 out of 100—a Kansas state Junior champion with 99 out of 100—a state Zone Champion with 99 out of 100—a Kansas State Champion with 198 out of 200—a runner-up in the Kansas State Handicap with 96 out of 100 from the 25 yard mark and anybody who could break 238 straight targets without a miss should belong on any All-American trapshooting team, whether he was 15 years of age or 50.

Several weeks ago when we released our 1939 All-American trapshooting team, Rudy's achievements could not be denied. In checking over the '39 records we found that Rudy had again won the Kansas State Championship with 198 out of 200—repeated in the Junior Championship at the Grand American when he scored 97 out of 100—he had won the Kansas Junior Championship for the fourth consecutive time with 99 out of 100 and averaged over 96 per cent on all of his registered targets to top all Junior trapshooters of North America.

A real All-American is this 16-year-old Wichita high school student, who spends his spare time instructing youngsters how to use a shotgun and rifle. His father, the famous Fred Etchen, Captain of the victorious American Olympic trapshooting team in Paris, and one of the world's greatest shots, conducts the Etchen School of Shooting. Rudy's mother is the woman's state champion of Kansas.

Spring Training Injuries are Ruining Hopes of Many Teams

BY JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK —(AP)— Injuries, which have decimated as many of baseball's pennant races as .350 hitters, aren't waiting until the major league season opens to get in their deadly claws.

As the St. Louis Cardinals grope northward two of the key men in the Redbirds' national league plans are convalescing in St. Louis. They are first baseman Johnny Mize and second baseman shortstop-third baseman (nobody knows which) Jimmy Brown. Both have knee troubles and while they expect to be able to return to the lineup when the curtain goes up, the Cards aren't claiming their absence from the team for ten days at this time is going to help Manager Ray Blades in his desperate infield experiments.

Jimmy Dykes, who had figured the Chicago White Sox infield woes were whipped has had to install rookie Bob Kennedy at third base and send Eric McNair to second because hard luck Jackie Hayes has an eye infection.

Lou Boudreau chipped a bone in his ankle three weeks ago and just when he felt ready to go back to work the Cleveland Indians lost, at least temporarily, the services of southpaw pitcher Al Mulnar and righthander Mel Harder.

The Philadelphia Athletics have been without Bob Johnson almost all spring, first because of a pulled muscle and later a torn tendon.

Rookie Dom DiMaggio of the Boston Red Sox sprained his ankle sliding; Manager Joe Cronin contracted a bad cold; Jim Tabor cut his hand and Ted Williams sprained his wrist. Jor Gordon has a charley horse and has been absent from his keystone post with the New York Yankees.

The bottom is slipping out of the Brooklyn Dodgers' stock because Manager Leo Durocher's throwing arm was hurt while tossing a medicine ball at camp. Rookie Pee-wee Reese, his understudy at shortstop, has been injured twice.

And perhaps most decisive of all the individual hurts, Charlie Gehringer, the great but aging second baseman of the Detroit Tigers, has a lame back he says was caused shoveling snow during the winter. With no satisfactory infield reserves this trouble may be enough to keep the Tigers in the second division.

On the other hand the Pirates and New York Giants in the National league, plagued all last season by illness and injuries, stand a good chance of advancing this year if they can dodge trouble as they have done thus far.

Brewers Take 4th Game From Saints

Milwaukee Pounds Out 12 Hits; Paul Sullivan Works 7 Frames

Leesburg, Fla. — (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers scored a 7 to 5 victory over the St. Paul Saints yesterday—the fourth consecutive exhibition game they have captured from the American association rivals.

While Milwaukee batsmen were pounding out 12 hits and stealing a pair of bases, two Brewer hurlers collaborated in the win by holding opposition hitters to eight safeties while striking out five.

Milwaukee opened the scoring with a three-run barrage in the first inning and added two more tallies each in the fourth and seventh frames.

Paul Sullivan worked the first seven innings against the Saints, yielding only five blows. Joe Dickinson finished.

Southpaw Bowler In Street Shoes Hits 704 at ABC

Detroit —(AP)— While the scoring in the team, doubles and all-even divisions of the American Bowling Congress continues to miss fire, the singles class is up to championship caliber.

With the tournament entering its thirty-fifth day of competition, six men have beaten the coveted 700 mark.

Steve Kukla, a stock little left-handed Detroit, rolling with a rented ball and wearing his street shoes, fired a 704 solo series last night. Kukla hit 279 in his opening game and then followed with counts of 199 and 222 to soar among the elite and tie for fifth place.

Mike Ulsky, Kittanning, Pa., was the other bowler to reach 700. Approaching the foul line in an unorthodox manner with his right foot in front, Ulsky linked together games of 242-222-236 to take seventh place with 700.

John Kuehn and Duly Smith, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., hit 1287 for fifth place in the doubles while the Walter Miller-Arlie Smith team of Hicksville, O., scored 1283 for sixth. For the sixth straight night the team leaders remained unchanged.

APPLETON'S YOUNGEST KEGLER

C. Jay Weller, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert J. Weller, 905 N. Rankin street, was a recent spectator at the City Bowling tournament and before long was taking an active part in the proceedings.

He succeeded in getting a ball off the rack and got right in with the tournament bowlers. The ball was placed on the foul line and Jay gave it a lusty push in the general direction of the pins, making him the youngest keglar in Appleton.

His mother had a difficult time bedding him down for his afternoon nap after he got home for the tot was bent on following his newly-found diversion. A little more practice and the lad probably will be a likely match for his father, who is secretary of the Industrial league. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Bidwill to Name New Cardinal Coach Soon

Chicago —(AP)— Owner Charles Bidwill said today the new coach of the Chicago Cardinals would be announced before he leaves Thursday for the National Football league meeting in New York.

The Cardinals, which finished in the western division cellar last fall, have been without a coach since the resignation several months ago of Ernie Nevers, one-time Stanford star.

Hoan in the spring elections here and on April 16 will become the "boy mayor of Milwaukee."

Who's all wet?

It never rains but it pours on our fashion barometer. When we go in for a style, we really go in on a season ticket... never a rain check.

Take, for example, that short, knee-length, ivory colored, racing type of raincoat you see in the newsreels taken around airports.

We've got them in different lengths... different styles and different shades.

No big city slicker is going to call us "all wet" for here are styles that haven't yet appeared in metropolitan papers.

St. Norbert High Boxing Team Beats Chuter Punchers

Bud Verstegen, Kenny Hurst, Jack DeKoch Are St. John Winners

BY DAVID YUENGER
WEST DE PERE.—St. Norbert High school boxing team posted its second victory of the season over St. John of Little Chute here Tuesday night, 6½ to 3½. St. John took a 1 to 0 lead at the outset, but the Squires wiped it out with two technical knockouts, two decisions and a half point on a draw to make the count 4½ to 2½ in their favor. The Dutchmen had a chance to tie it up in the ninth match, but lost out when Ernie Van Bostel, St. John, was forced to quit in the second round when he injured his right thumb. The technical knockout was credited to Warren Hare of the Squires, and it gave St. Norbert a 5½ to 2½ advantage. In the windup Kurt Hofmeister, St. Norbert, decisively Spike Verstegen. Hofmeister had the Little Chute boy on the defensive during most of the match and won going away. Before Hare's victory decided the match in favor of the home team, Bud Verstegen and Kenny Hurst of St. John won nice decisions over Darrell Steeno and Jim Bradley to make the count 4½ to 3½. The Verstegen-Steeno go was close with the Little Chute boy winning the first and third rounds. The second was even. Hurst gave Bradley a neat trimming as he worked up and down the St. Norbert boy's body and then to the head. Hurst showed the best left hand of the night. Bradley attempted to make a fight of it in the second round, but the Little Chute was too good and had a large margin all the way through. Score Two To T. K. O.'s. Two other technical knockouts were scored by St. Norbert fighters in the second match Jim Gagnon. St. Norbert, cut Cyrus Van Asten down to his size in the first round. In the second canto Gagnon landed an assortment of lefts on the Little Chute boy's face, leaving him groggy. Referee Cliff Fagan stopped the fight in 44 seconds of the period. Emmett Joyce, St. Norbert, got the other technical knockout over Sam Vanden Heuvel in 34 seconds of the second round. The first round was fairly even with Joyce landing oftener with a nice left hand. The St. Norbert had didn't waste much time in the second round in cleaning up on the Little Chute and again Fagan stopped the contest. In the other bouts Clayton Peters, St. Norbert, and Joe DeGroot, St. John, fought to a draw in an exciting match. Leo Quinlan, St. Norbert, won a clean-cut decision over Clyde Koehn of Little Chute. Jack De Koch piled up a big margin over Leo Shea of the Squires in the first match to win going away. And Jerry Clark, St. Norbert, threw too much leather for Warren Hoefler, St. John, and won a decision. The results: 106 pounds—Jack De Koch, St. John, won decision over Leo Shea, St. Norbert. 112 pounds—Jim Gagnon, St. Norbert, won on technical knockout over Cyrus Van Asten, St. John, 44 seconds second round. 118 pounds—Leo Quinlan, St. Norbert, won decision over Clyde Koehn, St. John. 126 pounds—Clayton Peters, St. Norbert, and Joe DeGroot, St. John, drew.

Bloomington, Ind.—(7)—The Indiana University basketball team, which won the 1940 collegiate championship, will play four games on the Pacific coast next winter and perhaps also in New Orleans' Sugar Bowl Dec. 31. Coach Branch McCracken announced last night that the Hoosiers during the Christmas holidays would play Stanford, California, University of California at Los Angeles and Southern California. McCracken said Indiana has been invited to play in the annual Sugar Bowl game and will accept if a satisfactory traveling schedule for the western trip can be worked out. The University of Kentucky, McCracken said he understood, would represent the South in the game. Besides the holiday jaunt and its Big Ten schedule, Indiana also will meet Pittsburgh and Butler. Only two members of the present team will be graduated this year. They are Capt. Marvin Huffman, of New Castle, and Ralph Dorsey, of Horse Cave Ky.

Know What You Want When You Build, Avoid Extra Costs

Why do some families build new homes and find it a glorious experience while others seem to have nothing but trouble and end up scoured on building so much that they say they would never want to go through it again?

A lot depends upon selecting a reliable contractor who knows his business, but a lot more depends upon the owner knowing what he wants and what he can afford to pay. It is easy to make expensive bad guesses in building a home. Usually those who rush into a building project with vague ideas of what they want are those who come to grief. It pays to take plenty of time in planning a home before signing on the dotted line of a building contract.

Give Contractor a Chance

The home building contractor can do a better job and can build the kind of a house the owner desires if he has adequate information on what the owner wants and how much he can afford to pay. The builder or general contractor gathers together for the owner's convenience in one person the functions of as many as 30 different trades and operations. The process of determining the price for a home is one of carefully checking the materials and labor operations in these 30 trades.

There are many qualities and many prices for each operation. Someone has to make the decision as to just which grade material shall be used for a certain place in the house and how the work shall be done. It is the answer to these questions which determines the final cost.

Don't Make Guesses

If you can take the time to give your builder exact information as to your requirements and wishes there will be no reason for his guessing, and making decisions which might boost the cost of the house. When specific information is lacking it is natural for the builder to estimate high enough to cover all contingencies.

If you want more house for your dollar, help your builder by outlining to him the full amount of the monthly payments which your budget should stand and the amount you can originally invest. Ask plenty of questions, make sure that you understand each other perfectly before you permit him to bid.

Make sure, before a detailed cost estimate and bid is made, that the design you have selected is within the general range you wish. The builder can tell you this. Don't despair if the first estimate on the house you want exceeds your cost limit. Go over the plan and the specifications step by step with the builder. Every house built is a compromise. Remember that slight

Home Show Income Used to Further Worthwhile Work

Kiwanis Club Uses Profits to Carry on Welfare Activities

Neenah — Revenue from the fifth annual Twin City Home show, which will be staged by the Neenah Kiwanis club Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at S. A. Cook armory, will be spent in Neenah and Menasha on worthwhile projects, officials of the exposition said today.

A statement showing the income and expenditures of last year's exposition as well as the purposes for which the profits were used has been published by the club.

Profits from last year's show totaled $656.13, while it cost the club $877.88 to sponsor activities. The show's income amounted to $1,356.20. Expenditures incurred were: entertainment $162.50, armory rental $75, booth rental $190, advertising and radio system $147.04, decorations, lights and power $101.48, janitor service $10 and miscellaneous $14.05. Expenses totaled $700.07.

Some of the activities sponsored by the Kiwanis club include: Student loan fund $100, Christmas baskets $132.64, Children's Country home Christmas party $109.95, financing seven boys at the Neenah Boys' Brigade camp at Onaway island $43.

Neenah rubbish containers $39.80, clothing for needy students $78.47, civic donations $42, sending boy to Badger Boys State $15, Neenah High school Conservation club $18, and Council of Social Agencies $25.

How to Get Good House

Avoid making your builder gamble. If he is sure of his ground and has full knowledge of exactly what is required of him he will help you get a good house for a small amount of money. He will not try to profiteer, but if he must take risks he will try to protect himself. Remove the risks and cut your costs.

Change your mind before you start the building job, not during it. Talk is cheap but building materials and labor cost money.

Do these things:

1. Before you spend money for plans, get two or three opinions from competent persons as to the general price class into which your choice falls.

2. Question every decision as to kind of material or equipment to be sure that some other material will not do the job as well at less cost.
3. Make a general list of everything you want in the house and get your builder's opinion item by item.

4. Avoid generalities. The only accurate cost of a building is based on definite specific items.
5. Be sure you know exactly how much you have to spend before you start negotiations.

The eagle was the name of ancient Irish coin in common use about 1272.

Brighter Colors Put More Life in Modern Bathrooms

New Designs in Fixtures Promote Safety and Convenience

Color in bathroom fixtures is still very much in vogue. Ivory is currently the favorite, although very popular are green, peach, soft tan, light brown and delicate blue, home show exhibits prove.

Bathrooms have never been so interesting and colorful as they are today. Tubs are lower, some of the new models measure only 16 inches from the floor to the rim. The new tubs also have a wider, flatter bottom, which lessens the danger of slipping.

From the displays at the home show it appears that no bathroom is up to date without a shower, either over the tub or in a separate compartment. New types of showerheads, only two and one-half inches in diameter, save from 25 to 50 per cent of water with consequent economy in fuel for the heating of water. The new showerheads are non-clogging, and can be adjusted to give a stream of varying intensity.

Improve Tub Design
Improvements in the design of bathtubs have been paralleled by similar changes in the valves, waste controls and fitting. Spouts are larger so that the tub fills more quickly. They are placed well above the rim of the fixture to prevent the possibility of the water being siphoned out of the fixture in case pressure drop in the supply line. Waste openings are larger to provide quicker drainage.

New models are an outcome of constant study of the problems of sanitation, safety, practicability, and the needs and desires of the public.

Of all the fixtures no other is made in such a wide variety of styles and sizes as the lavatory commonly known as the washbowl. More than 200 different kinds of lavatories are available.

The advent of the powder room or first floor washroom has given impetus to the development of smart and distinctive lavatories. It is, indeed, a far cry from the pitcher and washbowl in grandfather's bedroom to the handsome and colorful fixture of today designed by artist-engineers. In the well planned bathroom the lavatory is the most conspicuous fixture in the room, deliberately placed where it will catch the eye.

Place Fixtures Carefully

Planning a bathroom so that the fixtures are in the most logical location is extremely important. It is best not to put a bathtub under a window. Support bars to assist getting in and out of tubs are desirable. Avoid putting towel bars over the tub where a shower will strike them. The shower curtain rod should be within the inside face of the tub.

Accentuating the decorative features of the lavatory is the modern medicine cabinet with its handsome mirror and tasteful lighting. An especially striking effect may be obtained by the use of a round mirror with tubular lights.

Larson and family, Elmer Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Larson and daughters Mabelle and Mildred of Symco, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Myrhe, Miss Ann Fritzen, Mrs. Thomas Davis and Assemblyman and Mrs. James Fritzen all of Neenah.

Ernest Gottfredson returned home this week after spending several months in the Borchardt hospital at New London.

One-Story House Is Modern Vogue

Land Values in Cities, However, Make Low Homes Impracticable

New York, N. Y.—The growing number of one story houses now being built reflects changes in the living habits of the average American family.

"It's popularity is due to several factors," said Randolph Evans, who has designed hundreds of small houses. "Chief of these is probably our present greater emphasis on outdoor living, which encourages a tendency to place all rooms on the ground floor where they are within easy reach of the outdoors."

"Another factor is the increasing number of low cost houses now being built. This minimum type house, though completely up-to-date in its equipment, has fewer and smaller rooms than most more expensive houses. It then becomes more economical and convenient to group these rooms on one level."

Houses Hug the Ground
"The convenience of apartment-house living, in which all rooms are placed on one floor, has also had its influence. Finally, one story houses, because of their greater breadth in relation to their height, usually appear more attractive."

"The growing use of this type house, however, brings with it several problems of design that every prospective home builder should appreciate. One of these is the added significance of the roof, which is not only brought closer to eye level but is also greater in preparation than it is on the two story house."

"As a result, every effort should be made to make the roof appear as colorful and as graceful as possible."

"Fundamentally, the low cost one story house should be as well built and as well equipped as more expensive types for most new conveniences add comparatively little to the cost of construction and some, such as insulation actually cut the cost by reducing fuel bills."

The savings made possible by complete house insulation were brought out in a recent experiment by the Tennessee Valley authority which compared the fuel costs of two identical houses—one insulated the other uninsulated.

"The tests demonstrated," he says, "that the mineral wool in the insulated house cut its fuel bill by almost 45%."

"The one story house, however, will continue to be built mostly on low cost land. In those areas where land costs are high, such as in

Citizenship Meet Is Held at Bear Creek

Bear Creek — The first citizenship meeting was held at the high school Monday evening. Lunch was served by village officers' wives: Mrs. Roy Malliet, Mrs. Miles P. Dempsey and Mrs. Lawrence Reiman. The next meeting will be held Monday evening at the high school to which the seniors and juniors of the school have been invited.

Children and grandchildren who spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jepson on route 1 were Mrs. R. S. Van Loan and daughter Mary Jan of Neenah, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sommers, Edward and Betty Lou of Shavano, Mr. and Mrs. J. T.

cities and some suburbs, the two story house is obviously more economical. But if our present whole-some tendency of building on larger plots continues the one story house will undoubtedly continue to grow in popularity."

SPREAD OUT

Houlton, Me.—Nearly a score of Aroostook county potato growers, who have moved to New York state in recent years, have carved out a settlement in the southern part of that state which reports reaching here describe as "Little Maine." The farmers, all veteran potato growers, bought farms in Steuben county, applied Maine methods, and in 1939 produced an average of 300 bushels of potatoes to the acre on an aggregate area of 400 acres.

Broughton May be Replaced in Move For Party Peace

Propose 'Harmony' Candidate to Knit Democratic Factions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Talk of efforts to pacify the three bitterly contending elements in the Wisconsin Democratic party which figured in the recent delegate contest circulated in state Democratic councils today and coincided with a report that National Committeeman C. E. Broughton of Sheboygan may be succeeded by a "harmony" candidate.

Broughton last week succeeded in electing a majority of his personally endorsed slate of delegates to the national Democratic convention. It was generally assumed after his victory that he would be given a third term as committeeman by the Wisconsin delegation.

It appeared today, however, that pacification plans now underway include the nomination of a man not identified with either the Broughton or Keller factions of the party. One advocate of such a policy, it was said, is William B. Rubin of Milwaukee, who was one of the Broughton slate winners.

It was pointed out that the revolt faction led by Gustave J. Keller of Appleton, which elected a strong minority of convention delegates and divided evenly with Broughton on the state-at-large slate, directed its attack principally against the leadership of Broughton and his immediate associates. Their publicly announced purpose, it was recalled, was to replace Broughton and his associates with men who could be successful in rebuilding the Democratic state organization.

Birthday Party Given At Sherwood Dwelling

Sherwood—The approaching marriage of Miss Viola Klotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klotz of St. John, and Francis Sommerhalder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sommerhalder of Sherwood, was announced Sunday at St. John's Catholic church at St. John. The wedding will take place at St. John's church Tuesday morning, April 23.

Mrs. Norbert Holzschuh, who submitted to a major operation at the St. Elizabeth hospital Thursday, is seriously ill.

Miss Bernice Brantmeier entertained the following friends Saturday evening at her home, the occasion being her birthday anniversary: Misses Margaret and Helen Koehn, Little Chute; Marie and Loraine Schneider; and Marcelle Haen, Hollandtown; Ruth Miller, Helen Derfus, Ann Zahring, Florence Dietrich, Betty Olson, Elaine Schaefer, and Mrs. Edwin Schulz. Court whist was played and lunch was served.

Mrs. George Schaefer, Mrs. Fred Smith, Mrs. Mary Maurer, Mrs. John Hartmann and Mrs. West Seigel attended a meeting of the Schafkopf club Friday evening at the Walter Specht home at Kaukauna.

Frank McLaughlin of Milwaukee and Miss Margaret Jenny of Little Chute were guests Sunday at the John Brantmeier home.

If Pegler Policed Miami He'd Give All the Criminals Lumps

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The problem of policing the two Miamis, correctly described as the winter quarters of the criminal scum is so simple that any honest New York lieutenant and 20 decent plain-clothesmen would be able to clean up the whole district in about one week and keep it clean. Of course, I am being naive about this, for I am assuming that the state and local politicians, including the judges and enforcement officers, are clean and conscientious—which is absurd.

Pegler

When a community has to resort to injunctions to forbid criminals to engage in crime, as Miami did this winter, it is obvious that the elected officials are not trying. But to be naive about it, if I were that New York police lieutenant with 20 clean detectives I would meet all trans, planes and boats and establish a sort of immigration station on the highway at the city line and pick up every known criminal on sight. I would expect some to slip through and, therefore, I would keep a detail of my men at the horse and dog tracks, the night clubs, and work a shift around the rotating assignments.

I would take my captives into a quiet, secluded room and work over them in the old-fashioned way, and then face them out of town finally with a good swift kick in the trousers that would give each such a good start back to New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia or whatever.

After about three days of this southern hospitality the word would spread through the underworld that the criminal scum were not wanted in the Miamis. Not only would the deportees or refugees themselves hesitate to return, but their friends to the north would cancel their reservations and decide to rough it through the winter on their home grounds.

I know that this kind of police work is frowned upon now, but that is one of the reasons why the Miamis are the winter quarters of the scum. My men wouldn't make mistakes, and the cry of "wrong guy" would never arise, for I would limit my treatment to men known personally to me or my detectives as criminal no-goods. My men would give them lumps and, arrived back north, they would give Miami a terrible reputation in the underworld.

Public Bum's Rush Would Embarrass Them

In between receptions for the criminal no-goods in the quiet, secluded room my men would provide cards were played and refreshments were served.

Henry Springs, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Springs, of this town has purchased the farm of Mrs. Mary Schuh in the town of Freedom.

barrassment hurts them almost as much as lumps, and when you consider that they would get their lumps, too, you total up the treatment to something very effective. My men would jam their expensive hats lopsided and down over their eyes and tip their fancy neckties out of plumb and yell at them real rough in the presence of the assembled beauties and then haul them downtown. They would blush furiously.

More Presence of Hoover Stowed Them Up Plenty

My men would have met Al Capone on his arrival and tossed him around with great abandon, and our judges, assuming in my naive way that judges really wanted to clean up the Miamis and keep them clean, would have thrown his lawyers out of court when they asked for an injunction—as, of course, they would have. My men would frisk the credentials of premises serving liquor, and our courts would revoke the licenses of all scum, even though they were operating through dummies. I am telling you that I would make life so unpleasant for the scum that the Miamis would be as clean as fire.

People who live and do business in the Miamis are always saying that you can't do this and you can't do that to the scum, because the visitors, like excitement, but I would just say that the legitimate guests and the owners of nice winter homes there have never expressed any demand for scum to entertain them.

The mere presence of J. Edgar Hoover kept much of the scum, including Al Capone, at a far distance this year, and it was noticed that Mr. Capone did not arrive until Mr. Hoover had left. They are very unhappy in the presence of honest, vigorous cops, of whom Mr. Hoover, whatever his little faults, certainly is one.

There is nothing in the criminal scum problem of the Miamis that could not be cured within a week by 20 feet of garden hose cut up into one-foot lengths.

Club's Harlequinade Will Be Presented for Students

Masque and Book, literary club of Appleton High school, will present its annual dramatic production for the assembly Thursday afternoon, April 11, when students will see a modernized version of a harlequinade, one of the earliest forms of the drama. Ben Hecht's "Wonder Hat" has been selected for the occasion.

The harlequinade originated in France. It is marked by its stock characters and situations, although the plots of the different harlequinades differ. The "Wonder Hat" is concerned with an unusual version of the "eternal triangle" situation.
